RUSSIANS ARE OVERWHELMED AND FORCED BACK BY JAPANESE

Gen. Kuropatkin Reports to Czar Gallant Fighting of His Troops.

HEAR FROM STOESSEL

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Petersburg, June 30.—The following dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin to the emperor, dated June 29, was received today:

Towards 8 o'clock in the morning of June 27 our troops, having dislodged the enemy's advance guard, composed of cavalry and infantry, occupied the station of Senu-Chen, but at 9 o'clock it was discovered that a brigade of the enemy's infantry was advancing in front, while other columns were turning our detachment's left flank. The town of Senu-Chen, which is surrounded by walls, was also occupied by the Japanese. Consequently at 11 o'clock our troops slowly withdrew. As regards losses we only know as yet that an officer and 10 men were wounded.

A reconnaissance carried out on the road from Sia-Kho-Tung to Erltatan and Khanza revealed the presence of six companies of the enemy's infantry and two squadrons of cavalry at Mayaratsa, three miles southeast of Sia-Kho-Tung. In this reconnaissance Capt. Vassilieff, Lieut. Makaroff and five Cossacks were wounded. Makaroff succumbed.

There was some skirmishing June 25 between the enemy and our outposts at Samiarikau and Wang-Tsi-Fang-Ching, five miles west of Samiarikau.

At 4 in the morning, June 26, a detachment of the enemy, nearly an infantry brigade, with two batteries, occupied Santiao, firing on our vanposts occupying Black mountain, south of Sia-Kho-Tung. Our three companies firmly held their gound until reinforced.

At 6 a. m. a battery of Cossacks and a mounted mountain battery took up a position and opened fire on the front and flank of a Japanese battery and dense columns of infantry which had appeared against our left.

At 1 in the afternoon the Japanese began to retire, pressed by our troops, who had assumed the offensive and pursued the enemy, as far as Sa[illegible]. Our losses were six soldiers killed and two officers and 33 men wounded.

Japanese Batteries Silenced.

The battle recommenced at Sia-Kho-Tung at 6 in the morning. A Cossack battery and mounted battery repeatedly pursued the enemy's infantry and silenced the Japanese batteries. A section of our infantry repulsed the Japanese on our right, we counter attacking. The fighting ceased at 5. A section of the Eleventh horse battery, which participated in the fighting astonished everybody by its gallantry in pushing on so far as the Shan-Hai pass and holding its own against eight of the enemy's guns until its ammunition was exhausted.

Our losses have not been ascertained definitely, but they are reported not to exceed 50 men and 26 horses.

A battalion and a squadron of the Japanese vanguard June 26, operating north of the Siu-Yen-Kai-Chou road, occupied the Che-Liu-Ang-Tien four miles northeast of Sia-Kho-Tung.

A concentration towards evening of 26 Japanese battalions was observed near the village of Wang-Tsia-Putse, on the Siu-Yen-Cheng road.

From the morning of June 27 the Japanese developed a frontal attack against our troops in Fa pass, simultaneously turning our right with at least a division of infantry and three field batteries. The fight lasted until 7:40 in the evening. In view of the enemy's great strength and the turning movement our troops retired slowly from the pass. The enemy did not advance. Our losses are undetermined, but are estimated at about 200.

On June 26 the enemy continued to advance from Fen-Shui and Mo-Tien passes frontally and flanking. At least eight battalions and 16 guns were concentrated against Mo-Tien pass.

At 4 in the afternoon the enemy occupied Kau-Tia pass, on the Liao-Yang main road.

Since June 25 the Japanese have been advancing their right, occupying Siamatsze the morning of June 26, three companies advancing beyond. At first they forced back the Cossacks, but subsequently the Japanese were repulsed.

An official dispatch received from Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, the commander of the Russian military force at Port Arthur, says that the squadron of Rear Ad-

The Vladivostok Squadron Sinks Two Boats in Harbor of Gensan.

CITY ALSO SHELLED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tokyo, June 30.—(4:30 p. m.)—The Russian Vladivostok squadron, accompanied by torpedo boats, appeared off Gensan on the east coast of Korea today. Torpedo boats entered Gensan harbor at 5:30 in the morning, shelled the settlement and sunk a small steamer and a small schooner. The torpedo boats left the harbor at 7:20. A total of 200 shells were fired into the settlement, but no serious damage resulted.

The Russian vessels which took part in the bombardment of Gensan were the cruisers Rossia, Cromoboi and Rurik, and nine torpedo boats. Later reports show the vessels, when they left Gensan, steamed to the north. They were seen, however, to return from this direction. They were lost sight of at 10:30 in the morning.

CHEFOO, June 30.—(Special Cable.)—A rumor is current here tonight that the Russian Port Arthur fleet has made another sortie and that a number of vessels have succeeded in breaking through the Japanese blockading lines and are on the way to join Skrydloff and the Vladivostok squadron, which is in the Japanese sea.

Russians Had Strong Position.

TOKYO, June 30.—Detailed reports of the capture of Fen-Shui pass on June 27 show that the Russians were driven from an exceedingly strong position dominating the Shiheu-Cheng road. In this engagement the Russian losses were again heavier than those of the Japanese. The Japanese out-maneuvered the Russians by working around the enemy's right flank and attacking him in the rear.

The Japanese advanced in three columns. One was assigned to deliver a frontal attack and the others to strike the enemy on the flanks. The column which advanced on the Russian right flank fought a separate action.

It encountered three battalions of infantry, six guns and two machine guns on Sunday morning. This engagement lasted until sunset of Sunday. At this hour the Japanese bivouacked and renewed the assault at midnight, when they succeeded in defeating the Russians. On Monday morning, the 27th, the Russians were reinforced with three battalions and 16 guns. They assaulted the Japanese viciously and endeavored to retake the position they had lost.

They were repulsed and the Japanese flankers worked their way to the rear of the main Russian position at Fen-Shui pass. This attack occurred at 3 o'clock in the morning.

In the meantime the Japanese column which had been assigned to make the frontal attack met and routed 10,000 infantry and cavalry posted near Wen-Cha-Pan-Tau. This happened on Sunday, the 26th.

At dawn on Monday the Japanese renewed the attack. The fighting this day was opened by the artillery. The Russians poured a deadly artillery fire on the attackers and the Japanese artillery secured a new position and delivered a heavy cross fire on the Russian lines of defense. While this was proceeding the Japanese infantry and engineers cleared the obstructions from the Russian rear and closed in on the enemy. The Russians broke and fled at 11:30 Monday morning. NOT CONCERNED ABOUT HEARST

Hopkins Indicates That Illinois Will Go to Parker.

DEADLOCK ALREADY

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, June 30.—Ex-Mayor John P. Hopkins of Chicago is here. Mr. Hopkins controls the Illinois delegation. Its seats will be contested. Mr. Hopkins appears to feel no concern as to the outcome. When asked tonight if it was true that the Illinois delegation would not follow its instructions to vote for Mr. Hearst as long as he is in the field, Mr. Hopkins said:

"I do not see why I should concern myself so far as Mr. Hearst is concerned. Hearst is contesting my seat."

"Is it true that the Illinois delegation will, providing it is not unseated, vote for Judge Parker on the second ballot?"

"The only answer I could make to that question is that I was born in New York."

Mr. Hopkins said that Illinois would have no delegation in the national convention if the Hearst-Harrison move succeeded. No delegates other than those who have been certified to the national convention were elected. "Our delegates," he said, "are the only ones whose names were submitted to the state convention, and if they were unseated there would be no others to take their places. Of course," continued Mr. Hopkins with a smile, "other names were mentioned in the caucuses, but not in the convention."

The Hopkins-Cable combine is open in its support for Judge Parker. Hopkins is not concerned as to who shall be the presidential nominee nor as to the making up of the platform. His fight is one for supremacy in Illinois. That he is supporting Judge Parker is indicative of the fact that he believes Parker has the best chance to win.

There is some little gossip relative to Cleveland tonight. Investigation demonstrates that it originates in the east. No one here is urging Mr. Cleveland. It is believed that Cleveland's advocacy of Parker has been merely for the purpose of making the New Yorker a Bryan target. Cleveland's friends probably hoped that Bryan would exhaust his hostility upon Parker, after which it would be safe for the Princeton man to get into the open and make a fight for the nomination. Many believe that Parker is himself a party to this scheme, that at no time has he been an aspirant for the nomination and has only acted as a stalking horse in the interest of Cleveland.

Very few of the national Democratic wheel horses are on the ground. John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi, who is to be temporary chairman of the convention, is in seclusion at the exposition. He took a round trip ticket on the Ferris wheel and is still gone.

Col. James M. Guffey, the Pennsylvania leader, wired friends here today that he would not arrive until Saturday afternoon. Mr. Guffey was expected here in time to attend the meeting Saturday morning of the sub-committee on arrangements.

Friends of W. J. Bryan say that he has changed his plans and that he will not be here until Monday. Trouble will then commence. The national committee is deadlocked on permanent chairman.

SWALLOW DRIVES THE WATER WAGON

Pennsylvanian Named by Acclamation as Prohibition Candidate for Presidency.

MILES DECLINES TO RUN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., June 30.—The Prohibition party in national convention today nominated Silas C. Swallow of Pennsylvania for president and George W. Carroll of Texas for vice president. The platform was adopted without argument after a long deadlock in the resolutions committee.

In addition to the planks on the liquor question, it declares the party to be in favor of international arbitration, a suffrage law based on mental and moral qualifications, uniform laws for the country and dependencies, popular election of senators, civil extension, and the initiative and referendum. The trust question was recognized by a demand for a rigid application of the principles of justice to all organizations of capital and labor. A reform of divorce laws is demanded and polygamy denounced.

Gen. Miles put an end to the movement to nominate him for president by sending to John G. Woolley a telegram from New York asking that his name be not presented. This was considered final, and the movement to Mr. Swallow was unanimous, no other name being considered.

When the call of states for nominations was ordered, Arkansas yielded to Samuel Dickie of Michigan, who announced that conditions had suddenly changed and he would wait until Michigan was called. California yielded to Pennsylvania and W. W. Hague placed in nomination Silas C. Swallow of Harrisburg, Pa. A prolonged demonstration followed the mention of Mr. Swallow's name.

S. P. McCalmont of Pennsylvania nominated John F. Gill of Pennsylvania, but the point was raised that Mr. Gill was born in Canada, and the nomination was not recognized. Mr. McCalmont began an attack on Dr. Swallow, but was declared out of order, the sergeant-at-arms being ordered by the chair to take charge of him.

Homes L. Castle of Pittsburgh moved to make the nomination of Mr. Swallow by acclamation. It was carried with a prolonged demonstration, delegates standing and waving flags while the Illinois delegation marched around the hall waving a banner on which was printed: "Chicago doubles its vote and is still growing." The band played while the cheering continued. Mr. Swallow was then declared the nominee.

The roll of states was called for nominations for vice president. George W. Carroll of Texas, I. H. Amos, chairman, of Oregon, Col. Benjamin F. Parker of Milwaukee and A. U. Coates of Perry, Ia., were named.

The total vote for vice president was: Carroll, 626; Amos, 132; Parker 1. Mr. Carroll was declared the nominee.

SWALLOW MAY DECLINE.

Insists That His First Duty Is to Attend Upon His Wife, Who Is Ill.

HARRISBURG, June 30.—Dr. Silas C. Swallow may decline the nomination after all. This evening, in response to a congratulatory telegram, he sent the following to Chairman Stewart:

> Harrisburg, Pa., June 30, 1904.
> Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, Prohibition national convention, Indianapolis, Ind.
> If honor referred to in your dispatch implies duties requiring my absence from home, while I highly appreciate any honor or duty the grandest party of the ages can give me, yet unless Mrs. Swallow's health greatly improves, I would be compelled to decline.
> S. C. SWALLOW.

LAWYERS SPEND DAY IN WOODS

Three Hundred Cheered Pickups When They Won the Baseball Game.

ANNUAL PICNIC AT IDLEWILD

All or nearly all the lawyers of Allegheny county went to Idlewild to hold their annual picnic yesterday. About 300 members of the bar hied themselves to the Ligonier valley. The Eighteenth regiment band went along.

James Prescott and Sam Robertson at the merry-go-round and tintype gallery helped clear the atmosphere, and by noon, after several hours of wondering when the rain would cease, all were ready for lunch.

The annual photograph of the entire group preceded the exhibition of sleight-of-hand in the pavilion.

Then it was up to Ed Goehring to make good his bluff that his team could beat anything that ever faced a jury, but the battery was busy at home and Ed had to look around. He found he was compelled to pick several members, while the other fellows were primed for him. He hustled and aided by Capt. Rody Marshall, got a nine together which made things lively for the umpires, Judge McClung and A. C. Gumbert, at least. He finally announced Ben Thompson, shortstop; Rody Marshall, captain and middle field; James S. Dunn, third base; J. S. Christy, first base; Ben Reilly, catcher; Steve G. Porter, right field; Leander Trautman, second base; Ralph Tannehill, third base; C. E. Martin, pitcher, and Thomas Ewing, official scorer. Ernest E. Jones' team was made up of T. D. McCloskey, catcher; A. C. Tepletz, pitcher; Frank Jarvis, shortstop; F. J. McKenna, first base; R. C. Long, second base; Joe Bielas, left field; R. L. Davis, middle field; Karl E. Wilson, third base, and A. M. Kossler, right field.

The playing honors were won by J. S. Christy, whose work at first was marvelous; Rody Marshall, who knows a few things about ball playing; Ben Thompson and A. M. Kossler.

In the first inning Rody Marshall in his slide to third was threatened with an indictment for highway robbery, but he made it pleasant about that bag for future stealers, no mud being left on the field. Bets were freely offered the pants were not his, with no takers. The Goehring team won by a score of 4 to 3.

The married men and single men then essayed to play. Percy Digby captained one team, while S. L. Russlander was at the head of the old bachelors. The teams were: Married men, Charles C. Crawford, E. W. Arthur, Charles Patterson, P. J. Alexander, J. H. Harrison, W. E. Newlin, H. J. Graham, L. L. Davis, with Sam Ammon as sub; single men, W. McClelland, S. L. Russlander, M. Fletcher, George N. Monro, Jr., O. C. Bradshaw, John O. Patty, James L. When and Malcolm Grierson. Judge McClung refused to go through the ordeal again and Percy had to act. A call to supper ended the show with a score of 19 to 15 in favor of the married men.

A race between John C. Bane and S. S. Robertson, with Andrew Mercer as official timekeeper, kept up interest [illegible] [illegible] either way because [illegible] watch.

MURPHY IS STILL FOR CLEVELAND

Tammany Leader Holds Back McClellan Boom to Try Out Sage of Princeton.

ANY ONE TO BEAT PARKER

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 30.

A sudden change in the prospect as to the Democratic nomination for president came today with the return of Tammany leader, Charles F. Murphy, to the Cleveland boom, the first declaration by Mayor McClellan in a renunciatory vein upon the agitation of his own name, and a marked revival of interest among the Tammany following in the St. Louis convention.

These developments, coming upon the heels of August Belmont's mysterious visit to the city hall last evening, led the political sharps to believe that the financier bore some overtures, possibly from the Parker following, which found fruit in the new agitation for Cleveland.

For several weeks Leader Murphy had been peculiarly silent respecting the presidential situation, and during this period the McClellan boom waxed strong. The indications seemed to point to the abandonment of Cleveland in favor of Mayor McClellan. Today the coincidence of Mr. Murphy's statement and McClellan's attitude led to political gossip that the mayor had retired from the race, at least until Mr. Cleveland had been tested as an opponent of Judge Parker.

Mr. Murphy's statement, made voluntarily, follows:

"I would like to say, in view of the reports that I am booming a candidate, that I am booming no candidate. I am instructed for Parker, but I still hold my original opinion. I still think Cleveland the strongest man that can be nominated. He is growing stronger every day."

"From where does the demand for his nomination come?" was asked.

"From the people," was his prompt response.

Questioned more closely as to what delegates he expected to lead the Cleveland movement in the convention, Mr. Murphy said:

"He might get New Jersey, and the other states may follow."

"The Tammany delegates, being instructed for Parker, cannot go to St. Louis and work for Cleveland, can they?" a reporter asked.

Murphy smiled and said: "I am instructed for Parker; that's all I have to say about that."

Mayor McClellan, when asked this morning, "Is it true that headquarters are being opened in your behalf in St. Louis?" replied:

"I don't know anything about it. I am not bothering my head over the matter at all."

He refused to deny that politics had formed a topic of his conversation with Mr. Belmont, and parried the question.

NO BRYAN BOLT: NO CLEVELAND

Chairman Jones Equally Confident on Both Propositions.

HE SEES NO TROUBLE

"William J. Bryan will not bolt the Democratic ticket. I have not asked Mr. Bryan whether he would bolt. I considered a bolt by him no more probable than one by myself. Of course, if a man should be nominated who bolted Mr. Bryan's nomination or if Grover Cleveland should be nominated, I don't know what Mr. Bryan might do, but I consider the nomination of Mr. Cleveland so utterly improbable that I did not think it worth while to ask Mr. Bryan what he would do in the case of Cleveland's nomination."

This was the opinion uttered last night by the Hon. James K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, the man who will call the Democratic national convention to order at St. Louis next week. Chairman Jones passed through Pittsburgh on his way to St. Louis. He occupied a compartment on the St. Louis limited on the Pennsylvania railroad, and when seen by a Gazette reporter he was closeted with his secretary and the son of Col. James M. Guffey, who had boarded the train at East Liberty. Col. Guffey will leave for St. Louis tonight.

Chairman Jones was asked who his personal choice for the nomination was, and he replied:

"I have a choice, of course, but I have not talked on the subject, and do not intend to now. I anticipate no trouble at the Democratic convention, but I am utterly unable to predict the result. Never before have I seen so many delegates go to a convention with their minds not made up. I think that the uninstructed delegates, most of them at least, have not settled on the man whom they would like to nominate."

"Who will be the strongest candidate before the convention?"

"Judge Parker of New York will be the strongest on the first ballot, of course, with Mr. Hearst, probably, the next strongest."

"Do you think Parker can be nominated on the first ballot?"

"It is not probable, although it may be possible. One can't tell what further balloting may develop. For instance, Senator Gorman may loom up as a strong candidate."

"What issues will be presented in the platform?" was asked.

"Conventions do not make issues," he replied, "although they may recognize them. In my opinion the greatest issue of the campaign and the issue that will sway votes is the trust issue—the regulation and control of the trusts."

"Will there be a free silver plank in the platform?"

"I think not. The platform will no doubt reaffirm the principles of the Democracy. I don't know whether there will be a specific reference to the Chicago and Kansas City platforms. There ought to be no difficulty in preparing a plank that will satisfy those who believe in bimetalism, as I do, but who realize that it is not now a pressing issue."

SCALE FOR TIN WORKERS PROVISIONALLY SETTLED

Some Points in Dispute to Be Considered Later—12,000 Men Affected.

The joint conference between the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company and the Amalgamated association adjourned last night after agreeing that next year's scale be fixed at 18 per cent reduction from last year's scale, but the same rate at which the men are now working and with some changes in the foot notes. The rebate question, which held back a settlement several days, was set aside until another meeting to be held between now and July 22. In the meantime all the sheet and tin mills will continue to operate under the present agreement.

The settlement affects at least 12,000 men, over half of which are affiliated with the Amalgamated association. It was understood among the rank and file that unless the scale was adjusted by last midnight all mills would close down. Early in the evening President Shaffer of the Amalgamated association sent out telegrams to the sheet and tin plate plants, notifying them to continue to work until further advised.

The rebate system was inaugurated to keep American purchasers of tin from placing their orders in Wales.

MISS BARNETT MARRIED BRADSHAW ON MAY 16

FRANKLIN, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—The Barnett family this evening confirmed the report from New York that Miss Helen Barnett and Joseph Paul Bradshaw had been married in New York on May 16. They received word yesterday to that effect from Mrs. Barnett, who is in New York. They can assign no cause for the marriage being kept secret. Mrs. Bradshaw's trunks, which contain her wedding trousseau, were forwarded to New York today. It was while Miss Barnett was in New York in May buying her trousseau that the marriage took place. She then spent several days at the home of the Bradshaws.

PLASTER CAST OF SKELETON OF HUGE DINOSAUR READY FOR BRITISH MUSEUM

Big Crowd at Exposition Saw Fac-Simile of Prehistoric Monster's Bones.

DR. HOLLAND TOLD ITS STORY

The plaster skeleton of the monster dinosaur, which was constructed by the section of palentology of the Carnegie Institute for permanent exhibition in the British Museum, was formally introduced to the public yesterday afternoon by Dr. W. J. Holland in the Pittsburgh Exposition building. Two hundred people marveled at the huge shape while Dr. Holland told of its antecedents. Today the skeleton will be taken apart and will be boxed and shipped to London.

This is the first time that a complete skeleton of a great dinosaur has been exhibited, and the little gathering in the exposition yesterday afternoon marked an interesting event in the scientific world. Dr. Holland had sent invitations in behalf of Andrew Carnegie and a good-sized crowd listened to his little lecture on an exceedingly big subject. The skeleton is 78 feet in length and is 17 feet in height. The vertebrae of a dinosaur are exhibited at the Carnegie museum, but the cramped quarters have prevented the articulating of the ribs and the bones of the pedal limbs. When the new annex to the institute building is completed, Pittsburgh will boast of having the first real skeleton of these prehistoric monsters.

Quite an Old-Timer.

Dr. Holland stands nearly six feet in his stockings, but he appeared like a manikin yesterday, when his head scarcely reached the knees of the immense beast. He told his audience that they were gazing upon a fac-simile of the skeleton of the famous Diplodocus marsh, and explained how the beast has wandered around the great palm forests which covered the central portion of North America about 2,000,000 years ago. It was a vegetarian, he said, and with teeth scarcely larger than a lead pencil it had nipped off the leaves like a giraffe. It was something of the appearance of a gigantic lizard. About 20 feet of its tail dragged on the ground, but when occasion required it could easily whip off the flies. Had it cared to stand erect, its head would have reached into the upper stories of moderate sized buildings. Dr. Holland said:

Nearly 30 years ago the attention of scientific men was called to the existence of the remains of certain colossal beasts which were to be found here and there in the Jurassic strata which reveal themselves along the eastern uplifts of the ranges of the Rocky mountains.

Collections from time to time were made of fragmentary skeletons, and upon these fragments the late Professor Marsh of Yale college, and Professor Cope, based descriptions and papers which proved to the scientific world that at one time in the past there had been a remarkable development of reptiles of the most prodigious size inhabiting that portion of our country. Names were coined for these creatures and the study of their characteristics was carried on with energy by the distinguished gentlemen whose names have been mentioned. At a later date Professor Henry F. Osborn took up the work on behalf of the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

Five years ago Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who had been a warm friend of Professor Marsh, and who had become deeply interested in Professor Marsh's paleontological researches, as the result of frequent conversations with him, determined that in the great museum which he has founded in Pittsburgh it would be well to take up and systematically prosecute paleontological research, with a view to further discoveries and to carry to a completion some of the investigations which had been terminated by the death of Professors Marsh and Cope.

For the British Museum.

In 1899 Mr. Carnegie set apart a sum of money to be used by Dr. Holland in paleontological research, and in the spring and summer of that year Dr. Holland went to Wyoming to explore the prehistoric deposits there. Soon afterward Dr. Jacob L. Wortman took out a field party and was successful in finding interesting fossil remains. Subsequently Prof. J. B. Hatcher made successful explorations in the same territory.

Dr. Holland explained that all this was ancient history to Pittsburghers, and told how King Edward on a visit to Mr. Carnegie in Skibo Castle last year was interested by seeing a drawing of the diplodocus in his host's den, and expressed the desire that a skeleton of such mammoth proportions would be a valuable addition to the reptilian collection in the British Museum. Mr. Carnegie communicated the king's wish to Dr. Holland, and the work was soon under way. The exposition building was the only place in town large enough to accommodate the immense skeleton.

Prof. Hatcher, had been stricken by typhoid fever and the work of mounting the plaster bones was done by Arthur S. Coggeshell of the museum staff. The material was cast in gelatine moulds. The skeleton is likely to be placed on exhibition in the British museum before the end of the summer.

LAURIER FEARS WAR WITH UNITED STATES

Canada's Premier Thinks There Should Be Corps of Volunteers in Every Village.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OTTAWA, June 30.—War, even with the United States, is a possibility that haunts Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier. At the banquet of the officers of the Ottawa military district he created a sensation by making such a declaration.

"If I had my own way and in this I express my own wish," said the premier, "there would be a corps of volunteers in every town, in every village, in every hamlet.

"The only people with which we can have a war is a race of the same kith and kin as the mother country, and I would look upon war between Great Britain and the United States as almost as great a crime as the civil war, which convulsed the United States 40 years ago.

"But while we hope that it shall never take place, we must always be prepared not only against trouble with our neighbors, but against war with anybody, and we must be ready to defend our homes and country whenever king and country require our services."

INDORSEMENT FOR TEACHERS.

Over 70,000 Persons Sign Petitions Favoring Increased Salaries.

Pittsburgh school teachers have secured over 70,000 signatures to their petition for an increase in their salaries. The blanks have been in circulation but three weeks, and it is expected that the number will be increased to 90,000 before the end of next week.

The signers represent all classes of citizens, and the small property owners have been quite as eager for the betterment of the teachers' finances as the business men and wealthy residents. Several hundred teachers are still working energetically on behalf of the movement.

KUROPATKIN REPORTS GALLANT FIGHTING

miral Withoft re-entered that port after repulsing five torpedo boat attacks. It contains no further details, so far as can be ascertained.

As no injury to the vessels of the Russian squadron was mentioned the belief of the authorities is greatly strengthened that Admiral Togo's report was very much exaggerated.

While offering no specific ground for this opinion the admiralty believes that a fight occurred on Saturday. Gen. Stoessel's dispatch is addressed to Lieut.-Gen. Zilinsky, Gen. Kuropatkin's chief of staff, and is dated June 21.

All the latest advices of the war office say that the Japanese are concentrating in Hai-Cheng, Gen. Kuroki being at Dalin with 27 battalions. Only one division is at Mo-Tien pass and another at Fen-Shui pass.

Rain is falling in torrents, which is greatly impeding the movements of the troops.

A Russian torpedo boat has arrived at Niuchwang from Port Arthur. Her commander denies that any Russian ships were sunk or damaged in the fight off Port Arthur June 23. He declares that after clearing away the Japanese mines the whole Russian fleet returned safely to harbor.

AUTOISTS DISCHARGED.

Magistrate Negley Lectures First Violators of Auto Statute and Gives Warning.

Although Magistrate Negley discharged the six automobilists who were arraigned before him yesterday morning, charged with violating an act of assembly relating to the carrying of license numbers and speed, the police are still exercising unusual vigilance to apprehend offenders. There were only three arrests made yesterday, however, both being at the East End police station. A. C. Webb and W. J. Murphy were taken in while driving machines in Highland park bearing the same numbers. They were released for a hearing on deposit of $15 bail. S. G. Wertz was also arrested for running an auto without a number. He was taken to the East End station and gave bail.

Magistrate Negley, in hearing the cases yesterday at the Oakland and East End stations, said that in so far as the defendants were the first offenders they would be discharged with a warning. They were J. M. Atterbury, Dr. George C. Johnson, J. C. McAteer, F. A. Balser, John A. Brown and Paul Synnetevdt.

SCHWAB TO LEAVE BIG CORPORATION

Will Devote His Entire Time to Other Affairs, Including Shipbuilding Company.

TALK OF HIS SUCCESSOR

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 30.

Charles M. Schwab, who was formerly president of the United States Steel Corporation, will resign as a director of that company at the next regular meeting of the board, which will take place on July 26. The report of his intention to do so was confirmed today by a member of the board, who said that Mr. Schwab had notified them that he would have tendered his resignation at this month's meeting of the directors had there been a quorum present.

His resignation could only be accepted by the board of directors, and a report that it had been accepted by the finance committee was, of course, declared to be incorrect.

It is understood that Mr. Schwab's resignation is nominally due to the fact that he desires to devote more of his time to other interests which he has acquired, and which, it is said, are growing larger.

Practically, as is well known, he has devoted little or no time to the United States Steel Corporation since his resignation of the presidency thereof. A report was current in Wall street today that W. P. Snyder, the Pittsburgh steel man, would succeed Mr. Schwab as a director of the United States Steel Corporation.

Mr. Schwab's friends assert that among the companies to which Mr. Schwab will devote himself, the chief one will be the newly reorganized Shipbuilding Company. Directly after the settlement of the fight among the Shipbuilding Company's bondholders, and the agreement among practically all the interests upon a reorganization plan, Mr. Schwab began to get hold of as much of the forthcoming stock of the new concern as he could, buying the bonds of the old company whenever they were offered. Just how much Mr. Schwab has accumulated the public does not know, but other interests know that he was making an effort to gain control.

The Bethlehem steel concern, many people in the street believe, will be given the full benefit of Mr. Schwab's expert knowledge of the steel business. It has been reported that Mr. Schwab took much to heart the campaign against him that resulted in his leaving the presidency of the Steel Corporation, and that the Bethlehem Steel Company, with its shipbuilding connections, will be made a strong competitor of the big corporation.

The Russians left 90 dead behind them on the heights. This number of dead does not include those found in the valleys. The Japanese lost 270 men killed or wounded in the flanking and frontal attacks.

The Russian troops who defended Fen-Shui pass consisted of 11 battalions of infantry, 17 squadrons of cavalry and three batteries of artillery. The enemy had spent three months in fortifying Fen-Shui pass. The barracks and other buildings captured by the Japanese had not been destroyed, but before retreating the Russians burned their warehouses at Shan-Tasu. The Russians retreated in disorder to Shi-Mu-Cheng. The Japanese captured 88 prisoners.

TOKYO, June 30.—(9 p. m.)—A report received from Gen. Oku says that after the fighting at Telissu (Vafangow) on June 15 he buried 1,854 Russians. The trophies taken by the Japanese at this engagement included 16 guns, 46 wagons and 958 rifles.

LIAO-YANG, June 29.—(Delayed.)—The Japanese column which forced the passage of Mo-Tien pass is advancing on Liao-Yang by the eastern road. A Russian force commanded by Gen. Count Keller is holding a fortified position commanding the road on this side of the pass. The object of the Japanese is to cut the Russian communications northward of Liao-Yang while Gen. Kuropatkin is operating in the vicinity of Hai-Cheng with practically the whole of the Russian forces.

HEARST WILL SUPPORT CONVENTION NOMINEE

He Frowns, However, When Cleveland Is Suggested as a Possibility.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—William R. Hearst, fresh from an hour's interview with John R. McLean of Ohio, said here today that he and his friends would cheerfully abide by the decision of the St. Louis convention and enthusiastically support the Democratic nominees for president and vice president, whoever they may be.

"If Mr. Cleveland should be nominated, would you support him?"

Mr. Hearst paused for a moment, frowned faintly and then smiled.

"Well," he said, "I supported Mr. Cleveland three times for the presidency, and I am inclined to think that that is enough. I shall, however, abide by the decision of the convention. But why discuss Cleveland as a serious possibility? He is merely brought forward by shrewd politicians in the hope of forcing the radicals into a compromise on some reorganizer less objectionable."

STARTING PLAN TO GAIN CONTROL

Citizens Leaders Getting Names of Republican Committeemen as the First Step.

PATRONAGE IS RELIED UPON

Emissaries of the Citizens party overran the whole county yesterday, taking the first step toward obtaining control of the Republican city committees of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKeesport and the Republican county committee. The first step was to secure the names of the city and county committeemen; the next will be to seek to control them by the distribution of patronage and otherwise.

The roll of the county committeemen is not accessible to the Citizens, and so yesterday representatives of Thomas S. Bigelow and Murry A. Verner circulated among the people, preparing a list of the committeemen. The names were obtained by the simple trick of asking for them.

From the haste with which the work was conducted and the magnitude of the operations, it was evidently the intention to have a roster of the committeemen in the hands of the Citizens leaders as soon as possible.

It is believed that the Citizens leaders, despairing of ever obtaining control of the Republican organization in the primaries, have concocted a plan to secure the favor of the present committeemen or a majority of them. Allegheny and Pittsburgh elect city controllers next February, and Allegheny will elect common councilmen and eight select councilmen, and in June the county primaries for the election of delegates to nominate most of the county officers will be held. By controlling the committees, as at present constituted, the Citizens leaders would have the party machinery in their hands without being obliged to await the uncertain outcome of primary elections in January and June.

In Allegheny Directors McIlvain and Hunneshagen and several court house employes visited the engine companies, as headquarters where they could most likely get the names of the committeemen. In Pittsburgh William McKelvy did the work in the Eighth ward and William Shore, Jr., in the Eleventh ward. In the East End ward James M. McKee and his well known corps of workers were busy.

PRESSURE OF ENGLAND ON TURKEY EFFECTIVE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 30.—Great Britain has successfully brought pressure to bear on the porte for the relief of the persecuted Armenians, according to statements in a letter written by Foreign Secretary Lansdowne to the Anglo-Armenian association. The letter says that Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British ambassador at Constantinople, in a long interview with the grand vizier, Ferid Pacha, on June 14, pointed out to that official the responsibility of the porte should the reports of Kurdish outrages prove true.

The ambassador called the attention of the grand vizier to the design, which had been accredited to the Turkish authorities, of driving the Armenians from their mountain homes to the plains, and urged that orders should be sent to the vali of Bitlis that refugees be allowed to return to their homes and be given protection from the Kurds. The grand vizier acquiesced in the wishes of Sir Nicholas O'Connor and telegraphed orders to that effect in the presence of the ambassador. The British vice consul at Bitlis was notified of the grand vizier's action and instructed to report its effect. Lord Lansdowne said that the porte had also granted permission for that British officer to accompany any troops engaged in expeditions against the insurgents.

HOT BLASTS ON HUMP QUESTION

HE CITY OFFICIALS SCORED

The Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, t a special meeting yesterday afternoon, atified the action of its board of direcors in recommending the cutting down f the hump. The vote stood 94 to 10 in avor of a lower grade for Fifth avenue, ut before this indorsement was regisered a stormy debate occurred. A score f members took part. Some were aplauded, some were hooted and all waxed loquent.

"I regard this as one of the greatest windles ever perpetrated in Pittsburgh," houted Attorney George W. Acklin, hen the result of the vote was announced. Confusion followed this utterance, and the meeting was instantly adjourned.

During the debate John Bradley created a sensation by making a vehement attack upon the municipal administration.

"It would be a shame," roared Bradley, "for the chamber of commerce to indorse the project for the removal of the hump at this time, when the people are utterly lacking in confidence in the city administration. Don't we see what disregard city hall officials have for the rights of taxpayers? It would be better, wiser and more statesmanlike for us to wait 10 years—yes, 25 years—before attempting this improvement. Wait until we get a decent race of people in city hall—people who will spend the people's money honestly and judiciously."

The Bone of Contention.

At the last meeting of the board of directors the report of the committee appointed to investigate the advisability of removing the hump was adopted. Embodied in the report was the report of the engineers who were employed to estimate the cost of the hump removal. The only recommendation in the report was that it must be printed and distributed among the people in order to aid them in determining how to vote on the hump bond issue at the special election, which will be held on July 12. After the report had been adopted by the board, James . Willock introduced a resolution which called for the speedy removal of the hump. This was adopted by a vote of to 5. This same resolution became the bone of contention in yesterday's meeting.

Trouble began when Col. A. J. Logan moved that the reports of the special committee and the engineers be approved, thus affirming the action of the board of directors. Attorney Acklin moved to make no recommendation regarding the removal of the hump, but there was no voice to second the motion. It looked like easy sailing for a moment, until J. W. Flood moved that the action of the board of directors be amended to the effect that a careful estimate of the cost of the hump removal, including benefits and damages to abutting property holders be tabulated and printed in pamphlets for distribution.

Bitter Opposition Developed.

r. W. J. Holland favored the action of the board. He said the cost of the improvement would not exceed $1,445,000, which is over $500,000 less than the amount of the proposed bond issue. H. D. W. English said Dr. Holland's statement was true, but wanted the pamphlets printed. Bitter opposition to the board of directors developed when Councilman W. H. Stevenson, chairman of the investigating committee, rose to speak. He said:

"It is impossible to find out from the city officials the amount of the waivers of the abutting property holders. Director E. M. Bigelow of the department of public works has left us in the dark in our investigation. I believe he will continue to do so. As far as the committee has been able to learn, the cost of the improvement will be at least $500,000 in excess of the proposed $2,000,000 bond issue."

R. [illegible] Hall won a lot of applause when he declared with dramatic emphasis that the hump should have been cut down 20 years ago. He said he was a property owner in the downtown section below the hump and he looked for the improvement to result in a considerable advance in lower Fifth avenue property.

Still in the Dark.

"We are entirely in the dark on this question," interjected Mr. Acklin. "The city officials have given us no final estimate of the cost of the hump removal, and they stubbornly have refused to aid us in any way. It would be an outrage for this chamber to approve the action of the board of directors."

Mr. Flood's motion was lost. The original motion was then called and the report of the committee, including that of the engineers, was adopted. E. B. Taylor then moved to adopt the action of the board at its last meeting. Mr. Stevenson made another struggle to defeat the course which had been taken by the directors. He said he could easily see why the bond issue was favored in some quarters because it meant millions to be placed in deposit at a low rate of interest, which made bankers approve the election. It was at this time that Mr. Bradley upset the decorum of the meeting with his hot blast at the city administration. By a rising vote Mr. Taylor's motion was carried by a vote of 94 to 10.

MAYOR HAYS THOUGHT HE COULD KEEP OUT

He Will Have to Consult the City Solicitor About Selection of Depositories.

The legality of the method by which the city depositories were selected will surely be tested in court. That announcement was made by Controller Larkin again yesterday, after he had been stirred by a remark made by Mayor Hays. Another feature of the affair was the annoyance manifested by Mayor Hays when it began to appear as if he might have to take a hand in the matter by approving or disapproving the agreements with the city depositories.

"They told me," said the mayor, "that I would have nothing to do with this city depository mix-up, and I was glad to be left out of it. Now, I suppose, I shall have to consult the city solicitor for an opinion on the legality of the selection of the depositories. I was informed that the city solicitor had approved the method by which the depositories were chosen, but I do not know whether he did or not."

Then the mayor added: "I have been told that George W. Guthrie, Controller Larkin's attorney, told Mr. Larkin that the agreements with the depositories were illegal; but that is only a piece of gossip I have heard, and I don't know whether the statement is true."

"It is not true," said Mr. Larkin, when told what the mayor had said. "On the contrary, Mr. Guthrie told me the agreements were not worth the paper they are written on. He also said that if City Treasurer Frauenheim should deposit city funds under these agreements and there should be a loss of city money the treasurer's bondsmen would be liable. Mr. Guthrie will enter suit pretty soon."

Mr. Larkin thinks that the city can secure more than 2 per cent for its money if banks are allowed to compete for it.

CHARGED PREACHER FALSELY, THEN ADMITTED PERJURY

Abraham I. Strotter admitted yesterday, in an affidavit to Alderman Oyer, that he was implicated in a plot to injure the reputation of the Rev. Maurice Ruben, superintendent of the New Covenant mission, Forty-second street. Several days ago Strotter made information against Mr. Ruben, charging assault and battery. Strotter confessed later that while a servant at the mission he made a remark that displeased some women and was led from the room by the superintendent. Some time afterward Strotter says he was told that if he charged assault and battery he could get a "good thing" out of the minister, who would quite likely "settle."

TO STOP WORK ON SUNDAYS

New Society Ready for Crusade Against Sabbath Business Concerns.

PARKS TO BE INVESTIGATED

The new Allegheny County Sabbath association is ready for work. It will begin a crusade in Pittsburgh and vicinity on Sunday. An agent has been employed, and under him will be detectives who will gather evidence and seek to enforce Sunday laws rigidly.

The organization will resemble closely the old Law and Order society which became extinct about 12 years ago. The express object is to put an end to Sunday business concerns, especially to stores, including fruit stands and such places. Work will likely be started first in the Wylie avenue district, where the officers of the organization say the law regarding retail stores is violated.

There will also be a crusade against hilarious forms of amusement in the parks; in fact everything that is carried on in these pleasure spots that is likely to divert attention from the real meaning of the day. Amateur baseball will also be looked after when the plan gets well under way, say the officers. Objections have been coming in from rural districts recently about baseball playing.

The whole plan is a branch of the State Sabbath association, which was formed in Harrisburg last winter. The work was brought to a focus here recently by complaints from Homestead people regarding disturbances in Kennywood park on Sundays. The organization is backed by church people and ministers, and has to do only with disorders on Sunday; it is in no way affiliated with the Anti-Saloon league or like societies.

The Rev. Dr. T. J. Leak, pastor of the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church, who is a member of the executive committee, said last night:

"We are now well organized and ready for the work. It is the money making ventures and the things that tend to dissipate rather than recreate the mind and soul on Sunday that we are after. There are a great many classes of people who do not seem to have any regard for the Sabbath here, and what we will do will be simply to gather evidence and place it before the authorities for action. We will not announce the name of our agent or the attorney we expect to employ at present. We will hold our next meeting one week from Monday."

The Rev. J. T. McCrory, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, is chairman of the executive committee. The Rev. Dr. S. A. Hunter of the Sheraden Presbyterian church is president of the association. The Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, pastor of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, is one of the vice presidents, and the Rev. E. C. Lane, pastor of the Mt. Washington Methodist Protestant church, is secretary. The new venture is supported by all Protestant churches of the city and vicinity. Similar work will be carried on in every county in Pennsylvania, as branches of the state organization.

AUTOS WILL RACE UP STEEP HEBERTON HILL

Interesting Event Under Auspices of Automobile Club Takes Place Tomorrow.

One of the most interesting automobile events of the year will be the hill-climbing contest under the auspices of the Automobile club of Pittsburgh which will take place on Heberton, starting at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Both automobile manufacturers and owners are taking a great deal of interest in the affair and there promises to be a large turnout, especially because the arrangements this year provide for what is practically a competitive race between pairs of machines as well as a general race against time. In all the classes the cars will be run two at a time, instead of singly as heretofore.

There are eight classes, as follows: First, from 1 to 7½ horse-power; second, 8 to 10 horse-power; third, 11 to 14 horse-power; fourth, 15 to 20 horse-power; fifth, 21 to 24 horse-power; sixth, over 24 horse-power; seventh, free-for-all, for members of the Automobile club; eighth, free-for-all, for dealers and manufacturers. The cars will be required to contain their complement of passengers.

There will be trial heats in each class with finals between the two cars which make the best records in the trial heats. In each the finals will be run for a silver cup.

[illegible] for entry can be had at Banker Bros., Martin's garage or of G. E. Turner, Farmer's Bank building.

TEMPORARY HEAD FOR WEST PENN

Capt. J. W. Kreps Appointed Acting Superintendent by Special Committee.

PRESIDENT MELLON EXPLAINS

Upon the withdrawal yesterday of Charles S. Howell, for more than seven years superintendent of the West Penn hospital, the special committee of the executive board, appointed by President James R. Mellon to select a successor to Mr. Howell, appointed Capt. J. W. Kreps as acting superintendent, pending the selection of a permanent manager for the institution. Mr. Howell's resignation, tendered a month ago, was made effective today. He leaves to take up another line of business.

The committee which made the selection is composed of Stephen W. Tener, Wilson Arbuthnot and President Mellon, ex-officio member. Their selection came as a surprise, as Capt. Krebs had not been publicly mentioned for the position. However, this was explained last night by Mr. Mellon, who in discussing the appointment said:

"When Mr. Howell notified us that he would sever his connection with the hospital on July 1, we at once took up the question of choosing his successor. To facilitate matters, the special committee was appointed with full power to act. Quite a number of applications were received by us and placed on file. We also corresponded with hospital authorities in other cities in an effort to secure a superintendent of satisfactory ability. So far as I know, no one has been selected to fill the position permanently. For this reason it became necessary to place some one in charge temporarily, and Mr. Tener and Mr. Arbuthnot chose Capt. Kreps as the most available person. While the appointment is only temporary, he will be given an opportunity to show what he can do in the position. In the meantime the committee is continuing on the lookout for a man possessing the qualifications which we desire, and until such a person is found Capt. Kreps will remain in charge."

The circumstances under which the appointment was made will not make it necessary to have it indorsed by the executive committee, the special committee having full power to act until a permanent superintendent is chosen. Several members of the board of directors who were spoken to last night did not even know of the committee's action.

Capt. Kreps was seen last night and expressed satisfaction over the confidence shown him by the committee. He had taken full charge of the hospital and had just finished an inspection tour through the buildings when a Gazette reporter met him. In reply to a question he said:

"I did not expect to take charge until tomorrow, but Mr. Howell's departure from the city made it necessary for me to get into harness at once. No, I don't contemplate any immediate changes in the present system of conducting the institution, but should it be deemed necessary I will have no hesitation in so doing. I like the position first-rate, but don't know how long I will be here, as the appointment is only temporary."

Capt. Kreps is a well known river man, having owned and operated the old Manchester docks in the Ohio river. He has lived in Allegheny county for more than 50 years. He served through the civil war as captain of Company B, Seventy-seventh Pennsylvania Volunteers. A few years ago he retired from active business, and leaving his former home in Allegheny, where he lived for many years, took up his residence at 5943 Alder street, East End.

Friday, July 1, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

Hon. William O. Smith was promptly renominated by the Republican conference of the Twenty-seventh congressional district yesterday, as a reward of merit. It is with pleasure we note the passing of the onetime idea from the rural congressional districts. A member gets acquainted during his first term, begins to be useful during his second and is worth something to his district afterward, if a good man. Of course, if not a good man it would be wise to keep him out of the first term. Mr. Smith, however, it is well known is in the good class.

While there has been a decrease in the total sales of real estate for the first six months this year, as compared with three preceding years, there has been no depreciation in values. Naturally the financial conditions of the past 12 months have checked transfers, but the fact that values have held steady should be most gratifying to holders. Nothing else has so firmly maintained its price. In the matter of building this year makes a better showing than last, and there is reason to anticipate that next year may exceed all records. This is a good indication for the Pittsburgh realty market and of the substantial character of the rapid growth of the city.

Notice is served on the fire insurance companies that it is time for the pink slip to disappear. The system of large water mains downtown is complete and in service. The protection against fire in the Pittsburgh business district is now as good as that of any city in the country, with the possible exception of Philadelphia, where the new gas engine pumping station has been installed. This city is not far behind the Philadelphia standard, because the natural pressure on its downtown mains is materially greater than that on the old Philadelphia system. The pink slip is an expensive nuisance, and its disappearance will be welcomed by every property owner and business man.

Secretary Shaw's statement of the business of the national treasury for the fiscal year is gratifying. Barring expenditures on behalf of the Panama canal and the St. Louis exposition the actual condition of the treasury is within a quarter of a million dollars of the secretary's advance estimate. There has been a marked decrease in customs receipts due to falling off of imports, and a decided increase in internal revenues, which the commissioner points out is at variance with the popular belief that business has fallen to near nothing. While imports have decreased, exports exceed all records, even that of 1900. The exports of manufactures are the largest in the history of the country and are contributing materially to the employment of American labor while the domestic markets are inactive.

Semi-annual disbursements of interest and dividends are estimated almost, if not quite, as large as at the same period last year. At that time they had reached the highest total in the financial history of the country. There have been few reductions, and fewer corporations have decided to pass dividends and interest altogether. United States Steel common and Wabash bonds are otable exceptions to the rule, while on the ther hand there are dividends on some oal road stocks for the first time in many ears. It must be apparent, considering hese facts, the treasury statistics and the romise of fair average crops that there is othing the matter with this country. The lackening of business denotes hesitation and the taking of a breathing spell, but undamental conditions favor greater prosperity than ever.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, n an address at the banquet of the Ottawa ilitary district urged that Canada should e prepared for war with even as good a end as the United States. He said that r between America and Great Britain would be almost as great a crime as the civil strife in the United States 40 years ago, but nevertheless Canada ought to be prepared for such a contingency. Naturally Sir Wilfrid's remarks caused a sensation. Naturally they will give rise to much discussion in Canada and probably to some misapprehensions in Continental Europe. In this country, however, they will not be misunderstood. The Canadian premier does not apprehend trouble. He does not see any unfriendliness on either side. He simply desires to have Canada prepared to meet any emergency, which is wisdom and caution on his part. If he thought the United States dangerous he would not talk for publication.

On the waters of Lake Quinsigamond, near Worcester, Mass., a number of fellows planned to present a spectacular representation of the Slocum disaster. They calculated upon the morbid curiosity of the public to make the venture a profitable one. They purposed to produce it even while many of the bodies of the Slocum victims were still awaiting burial. That their abominable scheme was promptly nipped in the bud is due to the good taste and authority of President Bigelow of the Lake Quinsigamond Steamship Company, who indignantly forbade the exhibition and scathingly rebuked its originators. The time has arrived, indeed, to call a halt on such disgusting spectacles, which are becoming all too common. Mayor Harrison of Chicago was of this mind when he put his foot firmly down on the project of a dime museum to exhibit the sweetheart of one of the car barn bandits recently put to death. Aside from being in vulgarly bad taste, such exhibitions as these serve absolutely no worthy purpose. On the contrary, it is plainly apparent, they breed in those who witness them only a spirit of indifference to human suffering.

Prohibition Convention.

In several matters the Prohibition national convention did the unexpected. It began by departing from its time-honored custom of confining the platform to the one subject of the liquor traffic and made pronouncement upon several topics of public interest. This was supposed to be for the purpose of giving Gen. Nelson A. Miles a "broad" platform to stand upon. Gen. Miles, however, indicated to the convention that he did not desire the nomination.

Then the unexpected happened in the unanimous nomination of the Rev. Silas C. Swallow of Harrisburg for president, though nearly every other available man had been more talked about previously. Finally the nomination for vice president was given to George E. Carroll of Texas. In the nominations there is a conspicuous absence of the political considerations which were recognized in broadening the platform, Dr. Swallow being a citizen of the strongest Republican state and Mr. Carroll of the strongest Democratic state.

Dr. Swallow needs no introduction to readers of The Gazette. He was the nominee of the Prohibition party of this state for governor in 1898 and polled a phenomenal vote. He has figured largely in sensational charges against the state government and in political movements to an extent that brought upon him the disfavor of leaders of his church. He will make an aggressive candidate in a hopeless cause. Mr. Carroll is not so well known. His entrance into politics may serve to disclose his identity, but it may be taken for granted he is not one of the "bad men" who have made the Lone Star state notorious.

For Hump Removal.

Following the lead of its board of directors the chamber of commerce yesterday indorsed the project for the removal of the hump on the basis that it will not cost much more than $1,000,000 in excess of the estimate made by the department of public works. There was some opposition to the indorsement, but it cut small figure in the voting, and it is probable there might have been none at all had Director Bigelow frankly made public such information as he has pertaining to the matter.

From the first The Gazette has urged the fullest measure of publicity as the surest means of gaining public favor for this improvement. There has been reason all along to believe the cost would exceed $2,000,000, but until the chamber of commerce made its investigation there were no data from which the excess could be approximately estimated. Director Bigelow's reticence exaggerated public suspicion and created opposition, the greater part of which has disappeared since publication of the figures of the experts. Those figures show the cost of the actual works at about $2,500,000. The waivers held by Director Bigelow should reduce this amount. There is left the uncertain amount of consequential damages. Possibly they will not exceed the reduction effected by waivers. But to assure the public support needed to carry the bond issue Director Bigelow should make a clean breast of his knowledge affecting these points. It is public business.

Pattison's Chance.

Out of the uncertainty in the Democratic camp one certainty has grown. On the eve of the convention it is assured that Mr. Bryan of Nebraska will be taught the lesson of his life, and if he is not wholly incapable of acquiring wisdom he will hereafter understand that one man, twice defeated, cannot be greater than his party. Bryan and Bryanism will be repudiated with all of the force of a virile convention.

This development is naturally favorable to Judge Parker, who has been the particular object of Bryan's abuse. But if Judge Parker does not land in the early balloting, the most promising candidate is former Gov. Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania. The mere fact that he resides in the strongest Republican state does not remove him from serious consideration. A candidate from Pennsylvania would be preferable to the candidate of one faction from the so-called doubtful state of New York. Judge Parker's candidacy will weaken if it becomes apparent that the Tammany opposition is of deep enough nature to last after the nomination has been made, for without Tammany's cordial support the Parker men could hardly hope to carry New York.

If, as seems probable, Col. Guffey shall turn in the Pennsylvania delegates for Judge Parker in the early balloting and Parker shall be unable to reach the necessary two-thirds vote, it would be quite natural that the Parker strength should go to Parker's friends. Gov. Pattison would thus become a likely candidate, since he would be entirely acceptable to all the reorganizers. He is the one man, beside Hearst, to whom the Bryan men can go with good grace, because he supported Bryan in his two campaigns. He did not do so because he was an ardent believer in free silver, but for the sake of party regularity. Pattison would command the hearty support of Tammany, not being in any way affiliated with former Senator Hill, and he would be supported by the Hill contingent because he is in no way connected with Tammany. Being a native of Maryland the Pennsylvania man might well be the second choice of Senator Gorman and more than acceptable to the south.

Judge Parker is the undoubted leader before the convention, and apparent strength lends prestige. He may be nominated. If he is to win the prize it should be not later than the fifth ballot. If he does not get the required 664 votes by that time they will likely be beyond his reach. It is in that event that Gov. Pattison will become the logical candidate of the convention, because he is the one man thought of who would be most likely to have enthusiastic support from every element of the shattered party, his Pennsylvania residence notwithstanding. We imagine such a result would please Col. Guffey, who is deserving of the most distinguished consideration of his party.

No Jewish Synod Yet.

The formation of an American Synod of the Jewish Reformed church in this country was postponed at Louisville yesterday until the next conference in Cleveland a year hence. Reformed Judaism is representative of the most advanced and influential part of our Hebrew population. It is not the "low church" of Judaism but rather the "broad church." It possesses many of the most scholarly preachers and authors in this nation. It stands emphatically for higher education and for the spirit of Americanism. Many of its members are notable leaders in the work for civic reform and for the betterment of social conditions. Hospitals, social settlements, charitable societies and clubs for workingmen and working women are the outgrowth of its establishment. With its Christian contemporaries it firmly holds that faith without works is dead. It has forsaken many of the ancient Talmudical ordinances relating to ceremonials, liturgy and diet, holding these to be nonessentials. It has introduced prayers, hymns and sermons in the vernacular. It has instituted family pews and given to women the right to worship in the same pew with their husbands and sons. It has discarded belief in bodily resurrection, in the coming of a personal Messiah, and in the restoration of Palestine.

To Pittsburghers it should be of interest to know that the rabbinical conference at which was adopted the platform of Reformed Judaism was held in this city in 1885. At that time the tolerant spirit of the church found expression in the statement that "Judaism hails the efforts made by various religious denominations toward removing the barriers between sect and sect." In another statement it declared that "the present agitated state of Judaism is a period of transition from a blind belief in authority and exclusion to a rational and humanitarian conception of religion."

In the rapid growth of the Reformed churches in this country there have arisen many questions relating to the welfare of the denomination as a body, on which intelligent co-operation by all its congregations was needed. An American Jewish synod is felt to be a response to this demand. It proposes no sacrifice of the congregational polity which has distinguished the Jewish church from earliest times. It would be advisory body and not an ecclesiastical court. The demand for it marks a great step forward in the conforming of the Hebrew mind and character to its national environment.

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—What a time it takes to clean up after a mess like the rapid transit subway can be judged by walking through Longacre square. Or is it "Times square?" The managers of a paper which will occupy the triangular building facing Broadway at Forty-second street want the historic old place named after their newspaper which has "all the news that's fit to print," and the consequent row over the suggestion is still raging in city hall. But that is not the question in this paragraph.

What the long suffering Gothamite is asking himself is whether the desert of old boards, loose cobblestones, dangerous holes and general turmoil will ever be converted into a smooth road and sidewalk. It is as much as a stranger's life is worth to try to cross Forty-second street. This is not a new complaint, and that is the reason it is so exasperating. If the disgusting conditions at that corner were a matter of only a year or so they might be borne with equanimity. As it is, only a mature individual can remember when the corner was fit for a decent person to pass.

When the subway disturbances had been pretty well settled down, there was an upheaval of two or three skyscrapers, and the rubbish from them was pitched in the street, with a horde of howling laborers in the midst of it all. Hotels, newspaper offices, theaters, wig emporiums, milliners, drug stores and cafes are jumbled together, and withal one cannot find a safe place for the sole of his foot. The complaint about the Forty-second street corner is such an old one in New York that it has become tiresome. At the same time, even a stranger cannot pass there many times without being struck with wonderment that such a nuisance is allowed to exist in the very heart of a large and handsome city.

Novelty of the Horse Cars.

Horse cars are one of the relics of the stone age in this city. It is a thing that every visitor to New York remarks the first time he sees the old arks lumbering across town, with horses wearing that indescribable look of weariness which comes from their laborious lives, and the driver doing wonderful things in the way of missing trucks and wagons which threaten to smash him and his car at every few yards.

It is suggested that it might be well to charge strangers in town double fare to ride on a horse car, in recognition of the novelty of the experience. There are few places in the United States where they could find such things to ride in. As for the regular New Yorkers, they think they should be paid by the company for trusting their precious selves to the cars at all.

Della Fox Again.

Della Fox, looking as bright and fresh as ever she did when she appeared in "The Little Trooper" years ago, was in Broadway today. Reports reached town only a week or two ago that she was so sick as to make her friends fear she would never recover. She laughs at those reports now. She says she will star in a play called "A West Point Cadet" this coming season, and from all appearances she will be well enough to make good her threat. It takes a great deal to kill a popular actress—which is a mighty comforting fact.

Must Keep Away From the Ponies.

There is nothing remarkable in the fact that high officials of insurance companies, department stores and other large establishments have issued orders that any of their employes found gambling on horse races shall be dismissed. The turf has a tight hold on a great many young people in this city, and a majority of them are wage workers. It is said that "handbookmen" have made a regular business of going into department stores and taking bets as low as 10 cents apiece. Now there will be a sudden dismissal for anyone taking chances of naming the winner of any race.

One of the big officials of an insurance company happened to be at Sheepshead the other day, showing some English visitors around, and to his chagrin, saw a number of his clerks flying about the betting ring, as busy as any plunger in the place. When he returned to New York he issued orders that startled everyone in the building.

Busy Season for Schlotterbeck.

G. W. Schlotterbeck of Pittsburgh, who has signed a contract with Heinrich Conried to take entire charge of the tour of grand opera next season, outside of New York and Philadelphia, will conduct 60 performances outside of the two cities mentioned—the same number as in them. Thus the road tour will be of equal importance with the metropolitan. Among the cities to be visited are Pittsburgh, Boston, Cincinnati, Chicago, Minneapolis, Des Moines, Omaha, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, El Paso, Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, New Orleans, Birmingham, Atlanta, Nashville and Louisville.

There will be two striking features of the tour. One will be the production of "Parsifal," which will be presented with even greater magnificence than it was in New York last winter. The settings, designed by Brueckner, at Coburg, are in course of manufacture and will cost, when completed, no less than $40,000. "Parsifal" will be the piece de resistance of the repertoire in every city. Another special attraction will be the whirlwind tenor, Caruso, who made such a tremendous hit in New York last season.

Mr. Schlotterbeck will go over the whole route to be covered by the company, in advance, and will make special arrangements in each city for a fine production of all the operas to be sung. The energy which he displayed in Pittsburgh will be repeated everywhere, and it is the general opinion here that his tour will be a surprise to many who have been inclined to let things come as they will outside of New York. Mr. Conried has pledged himself to furnish everything for the road that he uses in the Metropolitan, so that the New York productions will be given in their entirety in Pittsburgh and the other cities to be visited. Mr. Schlotterbeck intends to be home on Sunday night after four exceedingly busy weeks in Manhattan.

Wedding Decorations Removed.

No doubt it will be pleasing to the Pittsburgh friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler, nee Wagner, to know that they are in New York today, and will depart on the boat for Old Point Comfort in a few days where they will spend their honeymoon. They left Pittsburgh last evening on the Pennsylvania railroad and arrived safely in this city this morning. The porter on the sleeping car spent most of the night removing the "good luck" stickers which had been affixed to their baggage by well-wishing friends before they got on the train at the East Liberty station.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"They say we're all degenerates
And slipping backward fast;
But still some new device each day
Appears to help us make our way
Ahead more rapidly than they
E'er traveled in the past."

As compared with the people who lived three or four or even two centuries ago, we are not half bad.

Of course, there is still room for improvement, but if history is dependable we have improved some since Columbus found America.

And that we are still improving along various lines is admitted by those who have lived for half a century or more and have had their eyes and ears about them.

Real improvement of a people does not consist altogether, nor even mainly, in their increased power over others, their ability to accumulate wealth nor in fine palaces and grand equipages.

The true test for real improvement is the humaneness of a people as shown by the treatment accorded to their fellows and to those with whom they come in contact.

According to this test America is not behind any other nation that now exists or that ever did exist.

* * * * *

It isn't everyone who has such a taste for ancient history that he will give it his whole attention, and there are none, perhaps, who have the time to read the histories of all nations and to note their peculiar points.

However, there have been a few whose hobbies led them to gather facts and figures pertaining to certain topics, going back as far as history would carry them. Some of these have sought only for things curious, others for types of people and others for characteristic features of laws, customs, religions and social habits.

It is from these that we get glimpses of the people who lived in the long, long ago, and it is by these that we measure and estimate our real improvement and the rate of progress we are making along the line of civilization.

Among the notable collections of facts relating to law and the punishment for crimes, is one found in the Czartoyski library, in which is given minute details of the various punishments inflicted on criminals since the world began. It was printed in Leipsic in 1697.

* * * * *

Following is the list of the death penalties described, without going into harrowing details:

Execution with a knife; with a hatchet; with an ax; with a sword; hanging; suspending a criminal by passing an iron hook through his lower jaw, neck, chest, belly, legs, arms or other portions of the body, and letting him hang thus until death results; twisting the neck; chopping the head off with a double-edged weighted sword; burying a criminal in the ground up to his neck and driving a plow over him, thus taking off his head; piercing the head, shoulders and knees with sharp or dull nails; burying in the ground and covering the head with grain, sand, pillows or other material until the criminal smothers; drowning; bleeding to death by opening veins in a bath; plunging a sharp knife into the vein of the neck; opening the abdomen and removing the bowels; cutting open the chest and removing the heart; breaking all the bones of the body on a wheel; tearing the flesh off bit by bit, with hot pinchers; driving to death by chasing the criminal with wild steers; quartering; cutting the flesh into strips; impaling; hammering a sharp stick through the heart; skinning alive; stripping the meat off, layer by layer, with iron combs; scraping the flesh off with curry combs; cutting to pieces slowly, beginning at the extremities, with wooden or metal shears; driving wooden splinters through the chest and abdomen; tearing the body in twain by bending down a tree and letting it spring; tying two teams and driving them in opposite directions; sabering; beating to death with iron flails; throwing from cliffs or towers; in-walling or entombing; stoning to death; burying alive; enclosing the criminal in a barrel in which sharp spikes are driven and rolling it downhill; poisoning; death by starvation and thirst; smothering by placing the criminal in the hide of a freshly killed beef or other animal, and sewing him up in it; fastening the criminal on wild horses or elks and turning them loose; crucifying; burning; inclosing in images and heating the images red hot; inclosing in images which have sharp knives projecting from their interior surface; drowning by drawing the victim under a ship; tying to a tree; burying at the surface of the ground and passing a plow over the place until the criminal is split lengthwise; taking out the kidneys; removing the bladder; tearing out the heart; tearing the lungs out; tearing the bowels out.

The list of penalties for crimes not punishable by death includes the following: Beating; exposing to the public on a stand; exposing on the gallows; exposing on the cross; capping the criminal with a hat made of a bunch of straw, and leading him thus hatted through the streets; burning with hot irons; cutting off the nipples and flesh immediately surrounding; welding chains upon the limbs for life; forcing the criminal to wear a miter through life; posting his name and crime on a public bulletin board; making him wear a green or yellow hat; riding the criminal on a jackass, facing backward; cutting out his tongue and whipping his face with it; confining him in a prison and placing him in irons; unearthing the criminal's body after burial; expatriation; whipping in public; tossing in a blanket; hanging on a gallows for a few minutes; branding letters in the forehead, back, chest or other parts of the body with red hot irons; tearing out the eyes; cutting off the ears or nose; cutting out the cheeks or lips; smashing the jaws and breaking out the teeth; tearing out the hair or beard in handfuls; chopping off the toes, fingers, hands or feet; tearing off the scalp; breaking bones; slitting into pieces the soles of the feet and palms of the hands; chopping off arms or legs; shoeing the feet as horses' feet are shod; shoeing the hands in like manner; binding the criminal to a dead human body or to live or dead beasts.

THE IMPENDING BATTLE.

The call to arms is bugled from the prairies of the west,
And Kansas, bleeding Kansas, sounds her voice above the rest.
Her battlefield is measured by the borders of the state.
Five million fertile acres now their ransoming await.
The hosts in battle armor are encamped upon the plains,
Where Kansas sun has kissed the soil made wet by Kansas rains.

A billion bold usurpers, like a restless ocean, sway,
As if their nodding, whiskered heads were meant to bring dismay;
As if their tall and lithesome forms could move a state to fears;
As if there were no answers to the calls for volunteers.

Oh, ho! ye gold-capped soldiers, draw your weapon from its sheath,
And if ye've aught to leave behind, to later years bequeath,
Prepare your dying statements, for a mighty host descends
With "Kansas" as its slogan, and with food and home its ends.

With valorous beginning it will wield its keen-edged blades
On southern undulating field that northward slowly fades
To plains whereon your crowded ranks will fall in gory sheaves,
Outnumbered only by the fall of autumn's golden leaves.

And passing on to northern fields the Reaper, bold and grim,
Unfagged with toil, undaunted and with undiminished vim,
Shall lay your fleeing cohorts low in death, that setting sun
May smile upon the clean-swept fields and whisper, "Nobly done."
—Kansas City Journal.

Some Old-Timers.

THE STROLLER.

The work of the pick and spade over there in Egypt rather takes the conceit out of our boasted modern civilization. Ever since good old Archbishop Usher, with the aid of the historical data furnished him in Genesis, kindly fixed up a sacred chronological table for us which planked Adam down here about 5000 B. C., and made him monarch of all he surveyed, we have been congratulating ourselves on the rapid strides humanity has made since then. But along comes Dr. Flinders Petrie and other chaps with their little shovels, turn over a few mounds of earth along the Nile and lay bare the evidences of a vast civilization whose certain existence is now known to have reached back at least 2,000 years before the date assigned for Father Adam's appearance here. With real documentary evidence in our possession, Dr. Petrie assures us, we now actually know more of Egypt 3,500 years before Christ than we know of England in the times of William the Conqueror.

Among other advances in civilization, of which we are mighty proud, is our state educational system, yet long before the days of Moses—at least 3,000 years—Egypt also maintained a governmental system of education quite as thorough as our own, so far as her knowledge went. On an ancient piece of papyrus, now preserved in one of the European museums, this list of professorial chairs was found, sustained by government funds:

"Mystery teachers of heaven."—Astronomers.

"Mystery teachers of all lands."—Geographers.

"Mystery teachers of the secret word."—Metaphysicians.

"Mystery teachers of the sacred language." (Egyptian)—Grammarians.

"Mystery teachers who examine words."—Professors of literature.

As might be expected among a people who set such store by literary culture, there were faddists in those days as well as now, especially among royalty. We smile at Emperor William's efforts as an artist and politely conceal our emotions when he essays his hand at a sermon, but here is Teta, a very respectable and much-beloved old Egyptian monarch, who lived about 4800 B. C., and who wrote quite a sensible work on anatomy. In Thebes, also, there is preserved a papyrus unearthed by Ebers which tells of a prescription, much in vogue in Teta's time, for making hair grow on bald heads. If Mr. Rockefeller hasn't been made acquainted with the recipe it might be well for him to get it, for Teta's own royal hand wrote a highly commendatory testimonial in its favor.

"Have a good time while you're alive, for you're a long time dead," runs a saw that one hears quite frequently in these modern times, but its sentiment, if not its form, is really hoary with age. It was sprung at least 3666 B. C., by wise old Ptah-hotep, the son of King Assa, and if anyone wants to see it he may run over to the national library in Paris, where it may be found in the original in a papyrus roll—the oldest manuscript in the world. Ptah-hotep was evidently a cheerful old chap who refused to be cowed by the oncoming of decrepit age, for writing of this he says:

"Let thy countenance shine joyfully as long as thou livest; did a man ever leave the coffin after having once entered it?"

But Ptah-hotep made many other wise observations on human life besides the one just quoted. According to himself he was 110 years old when he wrote them, so he must have known a thing or two about men. In fact, when one comes to read some of his pert paragraphs, and then turns over to the things alleged to have been written by that comparatively modern wiseacre, Solomon, about 2,000 years later, one can't escape the impression that if the latter wasn't a rank plagiarist he was a mighty good compiler. Among other chunks of wisdom handed down by Ptah-hotep for general circulation, these will probably make as favorable a showing even as some of the things written by Edward Bok or Orison Swett Marden:

"If thou art rich after having been needy, harden not thine heart because of thy elevation.

"Thou art a steward of the good things belonging to the gods.

"If thou art a leader, do for the best, which shall be remembered in time to come.

"Be not proud of thy learning; converse with the ignorant as freely as with the scholar.

"Beware of bad temper, for it contains the germs of all wickedness."

It is interesting to know that when this genial old gentleman died five years later, it took 3,000 men to get his huge sarcophagus down the Nile.

Fortunately or unfortunately, as we may choose to view the deprivation, the old Egyptians hadn't quite got around to newspapers in Ptah-hotep's time, but they got the news, nevertheless, and systematically, too, from couriers who had regular "assignments" from their royal boss to go and dig up whatever was "doing" in his dominions. As soon as a batch of events was made known to the court it just naturally filtered down to the rest of the folks and so the Egyptian population managed to keep pretty well posted on the topics of the day. But if there weren't any newspapers there were some mighty good cartoonists in those days, for the Egyptians were a fun-loving people and could see a joke as far as their neighbors. A happy providence has preserved for us a number of fine specimens of artistic wit, and when one picks up our colored Sunday supplements today with a lot of funny take-offs on animal life, he is looking at just about the same things that the dwellers along the Nile used to chuckle over 6,000 years ago.

For instance, it's not so long ago that a foreign newspaper printed a cartoon on the "Concert of the Powers" in which the British lion, the Russian bear, the German eagle and one or two other animals were the laughable performers. The chap who drew it, however, owes an apology to his unknown Egyptian brother artist, who about 3000 B. C., sprung the idea first in a picture representing a similar vocal entertainment given by an ass, a lion, a crocodile and an ape.

Another artist has left us a delightful sketch of a fat, amorous, shaven priest of the temple of Amen, who is the unconscious target of ridicule for a bevy of pretty songstresses from the same temple.

In another cartoon a lion and a gazelle are having a sociable game of checkers—a game, by the way, of which the Egyptians were very fond; a fourth represents a chariot filled with canine soldiers drawn by dogs, going at a gallop toward a fortress defended by cats; while one's sympathies and risibles are both moved by a cleverly executed picture which shows a high-bred, insolent-looking Tabby seated in a rich arm chair and being served by one of the most bedraggled and abject looking Toms imaginable.

No, the old Egyptians didn't know it all, but we've got to let out a crimp or two in our own smug conceit and acknowledge that neither are we the whole thing when it comes to a monopoly on civilization.

PERSONALS

Senator Charles Dick of Akron, O., passed through the city last night over the Pennsylvania railroad for Washington to attend to senatorial matters. "All eyes are centered on St. Louis," said the senator, when seen at the Union station. "The action of the Democratic convention is being watched as intently by the Republicans as the other party. It is impossible to make a guess who will be nominated for president on the Democratic ticket. Cleveland would make a strong man, but I doubt if he would accept a third term. Judge Alton B. Parker appears to be the most promising candidate, but there is a great chance of a dark horse being brought to the front. Politics in Ohio are running smoothly at present and at the November election every Republican will vote solidly for Roosevelt and Fairbanks."

Ex-Judge E. M. Wilson of Clarion, accompanied by his wife, returned last evening from a trip to Cape May. They were joined in the city by their three sons and the quintet left for St. Louis to see the world's fair.

Paul St. Peter, president of the Window Glass Workers' association, returned yesterday from a business trip to Indiana.

A. McWhirter, secretary to President W. T. Graham, of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, and Edward F. Maloney, head of the contracting bureau of the same corporation, will leave tomorrow, by way of the lakes, for Duluth. After a day or two spent there they will go to St. Paul and take a steamer on the "Diamond Joe" line down the Mississippi for St. Louis.

W. D. Mahon, president of the street railway employes, left last night for Youngstown. He was at East Liverpool, where a strike is on. He says that the pottery town trouble is the only one in the organization.

Drinks Were On Gates.

Just before his departure for the south recently John W. Gates, with several friends, was seated in the cafe of the Fifth Avenue hotel. Some refreshments had been ordered and there was a good-natured dispute as to who should pay.

Mr. Gates was the more insistent. "You know I am going away," he said, "and I insist this is my treat."

"But J. W.," said another of the party, "you are my guest and I could not think of letting you pay."

Another of the party suggested a compromise by having him do the honors. The waiter, awed presumably by the importance of the men he was serving, had a sort of nervous spasm. He started to wipe off the top of the table and in doing so upset two large highballs. The liquor poured over Mr. Gates' trousers. The waiter, showing incipient stages of heart disease, mopped up the flood.

"You see, gentlemen," said Mr. Gates, "there can be no further discussion. The drinks are on me."—New York Press.

KNOX RECEIVES HANDSOME CLOCK

Retires from Attorney Generalship With Kind Words from Subordinates.

RESPONDED WITH EMOTION

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 20, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Philander C. Knox of Pittsburgh dropped the title and responsibility of attorney general of the United States. Tomorrow morning William H. Moody of Massachusetts takes charge of the department of justice. By arrangement, Mr. Knox at 3:30 this afternoon received all of the officials and clerks of the department who might care to call and say good-by. Promptly on the hour the entire force of employes, from the messengers at the door to the solicitor general, filed into the attorney general's private office.

Solicitor General Henry M. Hoyt acted as spokesman, and addressing Mr. Knox told him of the regret that all of the subordinates felt at his departure. He reviewed the achievements of Mr. Knox in the department, commented upon the signal success of his administration and told of the high regard in which all of the employes held their chief. Then, on behalf of the employes, he presented Mr. Knox with a handsome mantel clock, one of the finest to be had from Tiffany's. It is a chime clock and the case is of mahogany and gold, a magnificent piece of workmanship.

Mr. Knox replied to the words of good will with deep feeling. There was emotion in his voice as he said that this was one of the proudest moments of his life.

"If I have done nothing more," said he, "than win the high esteem and regard that you have shown for me, it is more than one man deserves. I can do nothing more than thank you all and say good-by."

Everybody present shook hands with Mr. Knox and wished him success in the future. Throughout the whole ceremony there was apparent a real feeling of keen regret at the departure of Mr. Knox. It was not a mere perfunctory formality.

Senator Knox will tomorrow morning meet Mr. Moody at the department and introduce him to the bureau chiefs. In the afternoon he will go to his farm at Valley Forge. He stated that he had no definite plans for going to Pittsburgh.

A dinner was given this evening at the Metropolitan club by Solicitor-General Hoyt in honor of Mr. Knox. Among the guests were Paul Morton, who is to be secretary of the navy, and William H. Moody, who is to succeed Mr. Knox as attorney-general.

A Retraction.

From July Number "Ladies' Home Journal."

In the May number of the Ladies' Home Journal we published, in the article entitled 'The "Patent-Medicine" Curse,' an analysis of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, in which that preparation was represented as containing, among other ingredients, tincture of digitalis, tincture of opium, and alcohol. Immediately upon publication of the number a suit for damages was instituted by the R. V. Pierce Medical Company of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of the preparation in question, against the Curtis Publishing Company, based upon the claim that none of the three ingredients was contained in the medicine.

* * * * * * *

Upon the filing of the suit, we, of course, immediately looked into the published analysis. It appears that this particular analysis had been made, if made at all, fully 25 years ago. We, thereupon, employed three leading chemists in different cities to make an analysis of the preparations from bottles bought in the open market. These analysis, one and all, now show to us conclusively that not a single one of the ingredients mentioned by us in the analysis quoted—that is, either digitalis, opium or alcohol—was contained in the bottles analyzed. We then—the president of this company and the writer—personally visited the R. V. Pierce Medical Company at Buffalo, and were there convinced that the officers of the company were absolutely truthful in their claim that not one of these injurious ingredients was contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Naturally, since the analysis we printed has been proved erroneous, the deductions made in connection with this preparation were unwarranted and unfounded.

Under these circumstances it is now perfectly plain to us that this magazine was unintentionally, but nevertheless absolutely, misled in making the original statement, and we hereby, of our own volition, make this unqualified acknowledgment of our mistake to the R. V. Pierce Medical Company and to our readers. The mistake was honestly made, but it was a mistake.

HEARTY SUPPORT PLEDGED TICKET

Three Republican State Conventions Held and National Platform Indorsed.

COMPROMISE IN MINNESOTA

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DETROIT, June 30.—But two contests worthy of the name marked today's state Republican nominating convention in Light Guard armory. One of these was the fight in the resolutions committee, and in the convention, by Congressman William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids and State Senator Charles Simons of Detroit, for a broader declaration in the platform in favor of primary reform than the county local option declaration favored by the majority.

In addition to the name of Fred M. Warner of Farmington, who was nominated for governor, Homer Warren of Detroit and George B. Norton of Fruit Ridge were placed in nomination. Before the first ballot was finished, however, Mr. Norton moved that the rules be suspended and the unanimous vote cast for Mr. Warner, which was done amidst much enthusiasm.

The amendment to the resolutions prepared by Congressman Smith and Senator Simons, pledging the party to the nomination of governor by direct vote, was defeated by a vote of 774 to 394. The ticket is as follows: Governor, Fred M. Warner, Farmington; lieutenant governor, Alexander Maitland, Negaunee; state treasurer, Frank P. Glazier, Chelsea; secretary of state, George A. Prescott, Tawas City; auditor general, Dr. J. B. Bradley, Eaton Rapids; attorney general, Charles A. Blair, Jackson; superintendent of public instruction, P. H. Kelley, Detroit; member of the state board of education, D. L. Wright, Ironwood; land commissioner, W. H. Rose, Clinton county.

The platform, which was very short, indorses the platform adopted at the national convention in Chicago; indorses Roosevelt and Fairbanks, and expresses confidence in a memorable victory for the state ticket and "our fearless leader and typical Republican, Theodore Roosevelt."

ST. PAUL, June 30.—The state Republican convention held two short sessions today and then, following out a program agreed on by the leaders of the partisans of the various candidates, adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. The leaders had been in conference since last evening trying to devise a plan whereby the numerous contests might be settled with as little friction as possible, and it was finally determined to allow Chairman Clapp to appoint a credentials committee of 15, seven members to represent the Dunn interests, seven the Collins adherents and one the Eddy candidacy, and to adjourn the convention until this committee had acted.

The plan for an adjournment was agreed upon because it was feared that if the session continued throughout the day the excitement, which had been rapidly reaching a high pitch, might render the delegates uncontrollable and cause trouble. The committee on credentials met after adjournment of the convention and began hearing the contests.

MONTPELIER, VT., June 30.—Charles J. Bell of Walden was nominated for governor on the first ballot by the Republican state convention today. The ticket was completed as follows: Lieutenant governor, Charles H. Stearns; secretary of state, F. O. Fleetwood; treasurer, John L. Bacon; auditor, H. F. Graham.

The resolutions indorse the plank in the national platform calling for a congressional investigation of the alleged attempts in certain states to deprive the negro of the right of franchise, and the Vermont delegation in congress is urged "to use their best endeavors to secure the enactment of legislation proportionately reducing the representation of such states in the United States congress and in the electoral college." Allegiance to the principles of the Republican party and the hearty support of its candidates in the coming presidential election is pledged.

SHOWS SURPLUS OF $13,247,694

Secretary Shaw Makes Annual Report of the Condition of the Treasury.

INDICATIONS OF PROSPERITY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Secretary Shaw today gave out a statement showing the comparison between the estimates which he submitted to congress in his last annual report and the actual receipts and disbursements during the fiscal year, from which it appears that the actual surplus is only about three-fourths of a million less than the estimated surplus, when account is taken only of expenditures which were considered in submitting the estimate. In the estimate submitted to congress no account was taken of possible expenditures in securing the right of way for the isthmian canal, nor of the loan of $4,600,000 to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company.

The estimate was based also on then existing laws. These were subsequently modified by the ratification of the reciprocity treaty with Cuba. The secretary calls attention to the fact that the surplus would have been several millions in excess of his estimate but for the reciprocity arrangement with Cuba, which reduced the revenues from $6,000,000 to $8,000,000.

The following table shows the estimated and actual receipts and expenditures of the United States for the fiscal year:

Receipts.	Estimated.	Actual.
Customs	$250,000,000	$262,068,453
Internal revenue	235,000,000	232,435,695
Miscellaneous	45,000,000	46,682,565
Totals	$530,000,000	$541,186,745
Expenditures.	Estimated.	Actual.
Civil and miscel'neous	$131,000,000	$132,229,913
War	115,000,000	115,327,786
Navy	96,000,000	102,757,073
Indians	11,000,000	10,437,196
Pensions	139,000,000	142,558,335
Interest	24,000,000	24,618,786
Totals	$516,000,000	$527,939,071
Surplus	Estimated.	Actual.
	$ 14,000,000	$ 13,247,674

The civil and miscellaneous expenditures are exclusive of $54,000,000 paid on account of Panama canal and loan to Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company.

The available cash June 30, 1904, amounts to $166,865,872 as compared with the fiscal year ended June 1, 1903. These figures show increases and decreases in receipts as follows: Customs decrease, $21,823,235; internal revenue increase, $2,820,440; miscellaneous increase, $1,802,014.

The civil and miscellaneous expenditures for the year just ended exceeded those for the year 1903, including the payments on account of the Panama canal purchase and the St. Louis exposition loan by $61,813,602. The expenditures on account of the war department were $3,211,897 less than for 1903, and the expenditures on account of the navy were $20,569,271 greater than for 1903.

Pensions show an increase of $4,133,000 and interest payments a decrease of over $4,000,000 as compared with 1903.

Commissioner Yerkes of the internal revenue bureau today made the following statement:

"The total receipts of the internal revenue bureau for the fiscal year closing this evening will be about $233,500,000. This shows an excess of collections of some $3,000,000. The rate of taxation on various articles paying an internal revenue tax being the same this fiscal year as during the year which ended June 30, 1903, and the amount of tax collected being in excess by some $3,500,000, does not indicate that the business movements of the country and its commercial transactions are decreasing, or that we are suffering from general business depression, as is claimed by some.

"The work of the internal revenue bureau during the past year has been without special features. By that I mean there were no notable changes in the internal revenue laws and therefore no necessity for marked changes in the general system. It is believed that the laws have been vigorously and successfully enforced, that frauds and violations of laws are decreasing and that the field force has been unusually active, vigilant and successful in securing arrest and conviction of those violating these laws."

DOWIE ARRIVES AND ZION CHEERS

Twelve Thousand of Faithful Greet "Elijah" Upon His Return from Abroad.

GIVES THEM HIS BLESSING

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZION CITY, ILL., June 30.—Dowie has returned to his own. Zion City has welcomed back its prophet.

Despite pouring torrents of rain the faithful welcomed Dowie, and, standing with bared heads in the deluge, they sang "Showers of Mercy."

"It is an omen," declared Dowie as he hurried under cover.

The homecoming of Elijah III., although dampened, was really impressive. Along the newly paved Shiloh boulevard, fenced in to hold them back, stood 12,000 of the faithful with bared heads. In each hand was a small American flag. Above them were banners and arches.

The special train that brought Dowie and his party from Chicago steamed into the station at 11:25. Dowie alighted from his private car and the leaders who have had charge of his religio-financial colony during his trip around the world greeted him.

Dowie extended his blessing upon Overseer Speicher, who has ruled the town, and Dowie, Mrs. Dowie, Gladstone Dowie and Speicher entered a waiting carriage. Behind them came the deacons and elders, who were on the trip, and behind them, hidden in a closed carriage, sat Ruth Hofer, the "million dollar" Swiss convert, her eyes wide open in wonderment at the scene. At the arch of triumph Dowie's carriage stopped. The prophet, his white hair and whiskers blowing about his face, arose in his carriage. He stretched forth his hands, saying: "Peace be unto thee."

"And peace be multiplied upon thee," responded the crowd.

The world's tour was over; Dowie had greeted his people. The silence was broken. The crowd pressed about the carriage.

Overseer Speicher handed to Dowie the ribbon-decorated key of the city, returning to Dowie the emblem of his trust.

Then Dowie spoke, expressing gratitude for the greeting and thanking Overseer Speicher and others for the management of affairs in his absence. Mrs. Dowie and Gladstone Dowie each spoke briefly.

Gladstone Dowie, heir and successor-to-be of "Elijah" Dowie, denied today that he is the husband of Ruth Hofer.

QUESTION UNSETTLED.

Central Conference of American Rabbis Elects Officers at Louisville and Adjourns.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 30.—The central conference of American Rabbis adjourned today after choosing Cleveland for next year's meeting. The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Rabbi Kaufman Kohler, Cincinnati; president, Joseph Krauskowpf, Philadelphia; first vice president, Joseph Tolse, Chicago; second vice president, Jacob Voorsanger, San Francisco; treasurer, Charles S. Levi, Peoria, Ill.; recording secretary, Adolph Guttmacher, Baltimore; corresponding secretary, William Rosenhauff, Baltimore.

After a strenuous debate on the question of establishing a synod, the conference left the question open to be taken up at a future conference.

The committee on contemporary history made a voluminous report on events that have transpired since the last conference. The report expressed sorrow over the "Slocum" steamboat disaster at New York, and ordered that a message expressing sympathy be sent to Dr. Haas, pastor of St. Mark's church. The Russo-Japanese war was also touched upon in the report and regret expressed at the loss to the world of "the great and good Pope Leo."

TOTAL TO RISE TO $150,000,000

Great Sums Will Change Hands Today in Interest and Stock Earnings.

STEEL DIVIDENDS ARE EARNED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 30.

The July interest and dividend disbursements in this city will be inaugurated tomorrow, and the aggregate will probably reach that of last July. Last year at this time many banks and trust companies increased dividends or made extra declarations, and the advanced rates have been generally maintained, with even further increases in a few instances. Some other corporations have done the same thing.

Taking actual figures where the same are obtainable, and making close estimates in other cases, it is safe to say that the total dividend and interest payments by corporations will reach $135,000,000. If to this be added interest disbursements by the general government, states, counties and municipalities, the total will rise to $150,000,000—practically the same as that a year ago.

There was excellent authority today for the report that the earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the quarter ended today would slightly exceed $18,000,000, which will be sufficient to pay all the fixed charges, including the dividend on the preferred stock, and make good the deficit of last quarter, when the surplus had to be drawn upon to pay the preferred dividend.

The annual report of the American Car and Foundry Company, as published today, made a very poor showing. For the fiscal year ended April 30 the net earnings were $5,585,879, a decrease of $2,861,151, or 38 per cent, compared with the previous year. By reducing its charges to renewals and repairs by $138,632, and its charges to new construction by $159,480, the company was able to preserve a balance applicable to dividends of $4,496,863, which is $2,563,039, or 36 per cent, less than the year before. This balance equals 7.98 per cent on the common stock, against 16.5 per cent in the previous year. In its balance sheet the company writes $2,154,375 off the "cost of steel plants," and adds $2,693,770 to the "cost of plants and property."

There are few railroads that will show an increase in net earnings for the fiscal year, and for that reason the showing of Southern Railway for the 11 months ended May 31 is gratifying. The company shows an increase in net for that period of $688,498. The decrease in net for May is not very large, and it is understood that June will make a very fair showing. The southern roads generally reflect the prosperity of that section and all the predictions for the coming year are optimistic.

The final installment of $413 18 on each 100 bonds of the $25,000,000 Japanese loan which was floated here was paid to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. today. About half of the subscribers had previously made their full payment, taking advantage of the 2 per cent discount which was allowed if subscribers turned in the entire payment on or before May 25. Consequently, only between $12,000,000 and $13,000,000 remained to be paid today. It was further understood that practically the entire $25,000,000 had already been remitted to London.

ALEXANDER DODDS.

Lads Leave for Long Trip.

Karl Henry and Alfred Erwin Bartberger of 408 Pacific avenue will leave their homes today for a 2,000-mile bicycle trip from Pittsburgh to Missouri and back. Their destination will be Kansas City, though they will visit the world's fair also. The journey will take about two months. Both lads are expert riders. They are sons of Charles M. Bartberger, the architect.

BUTLER LIQUOR DEALERS JUBILANT OVER DECISIONS

Woman's Christian Temperance Union Made Hard Fight Against License Applicants.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., June 30.—Judge Galbreath granted tavern licenses today to Captain Herman Liebold of the Hotel Arlington; Earl D. Clinton of the Hotel Standard; Charles Geis of the Hotel Lyndora; Ralph Gregg of the Park hotel; Simeon and Brown Nixon of the Hotel Nixon; Daniel F. McCrea of the Hotel Butler; Alfred Klein of the Hotel Willard and George Haworth of the Hotel Bowman. The application of C. H. and H. B. Kemp for the Hotel Lowry was refused, the alleged insult on a Salvation Army girl in their place and one of the applicants being a non-resident disqualifying them. The application of Joseph Harvey for the Say House, was held over until July 11. Wholesale licenses were granted to the Butler Brewing Company, Joseph E. Franklin, Abe Hick and Hugh Connelly, all of whom held licenses during the last year. All the new applicants were refused. They were: George Campell and Adam Herrit, H. J. Smith, M. W. Mays, Philip Kramer, F. H. Goettler and J. H. Forquer, George C. Vorous and Samuel E. Wilson. A tavern license was granted to Charles Gibson of Saxonburg.

The liquor men, except those refused, are jubilant and look upon the decisions of Judge Galbreath as a great victory for them. It was believed by many that the hard fight made by the Woman's Christian Temperance union and Anti-Saloon league would result in all the applicants being refused for violations of the liquor laws. The temperance people are deeply disappointed.

SCRANTON, PA., June 30.—The Municipal league agreed today to withdraw the suits for the revocation of the licenses of 41 hotel keepers, upon the hotel keepers in general signing an agreement to religiously obey the law, permit the league's agents to have free access to the bars on Sunday and to forfeit $5,000 if the agreement is broken.

PICNIC FOR POOR.

More Than 600 Children Attend Annual Outing of Volunteers of America.

From the poor districts of the two cities and vicinity more than 600 children gathered yesterday in Riverview park, Allegheny, to attend the fourth annual outing of the Volunteers of America. Special cars were provided by the Pittsburgh Railways Company to carry the children from Pittsburgh to the park, and for a whole day the little ones romped over the green hillsides of the big pleasure ground. In cabin No. 1 long tables were set for the parents, while similar boards were placed on the lawn surrounding the cabin. At these the children were served with dinner.

Shortly before noon the weather threatened to put an end to the picnic, for the rain fell in torrents, and a great majority of the picnickers were unable to get under shelter. The skies cleared, however, and the children enjoyed themselves to the utmost during the afternoon. A program of races for boys and girls was arranged, with prizes for the winners. Col. C. C. Herron was in charge of the picnic and looked after the welfare of all present.

Youth Held to Grand Jury.

YORK, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—John G. Sell, the young insurance agent who was arrested Saturday charged with robbing the safe of David E. Small and then setting fire to the Small Mercantile building had a hearing before Alderman C. F. Keech this afternoon. Young Sell joked with Detective White and Mr. Small, his prosecutor. The alderman sent the prisoner to jail in default of $2,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury. Probably he will be sent to the reformatory. He is but 19 years old.

Sabian's Effects Sold.

At a constable's sale yesterday of the furniture and fixings of A. Sabian & Co., 2238 Beaver avenue, Allegheny, only $75 was realized in the disposition of the goods. This was divided among the 10 plaintiffs. Sabian, who had conducted a bank for the Hungarian residents of Woods Run, disappeared several weeks ago and, it is said, took with him about $5,000 that had been deposited by his countrymen.

FIVE NEW BANKS AS DEPOSITORIES

Three of Old Ones Cut from List by Treasurer Mathues. Two in Pittsburgh.

STATE MONEY IN THIS CITY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., June 30.

State Treasurer Mathues added five banks and trust companies to the list of state depositories and withdrew the public funds from three other institutions during the last 30 days. The balance of $13,685,326 67 in the general fund at the close of today's business is carried on deposit in 135 banks and trust companies.

This is an unusually large balance for this time of the year, and it probably will not fall below this amount until Mr. Mathues begins payment of the school appropriation of $5,500,000 in September. The new depositories and the amounts carried on deposit by each are: Charleroi Trust Company, Charleroi, $25,000; Farmers Trust Company, Carlisle, $50,000; Halifax National bank, Summerville, $25,000; Yough National bank, Connellsville, $25,000.

BROKE INTO THE CARNIVAL.

Boys Scale a High Fence, Are Captured But Allowed to Remain.

Quite a commotion was raised by the South Side police last night in Wabash park, where the Building Trades Council is holding its carnival. A number of boys discovered that no police were patrolling the rear of the park, which is taken up largely with animal cages and other show equipment. As soon as it grew dark the boys commenced scaling the high board fence. One of the policemen saw an urchin making his free entrance to the park and blew his whistle. Immediately all the officers in the park answered the call, thinking some of the animals had broken loose.

Several of the boys were caught trying to get out of the park again, but the management of the carnival requested the police to allow them to go free, claiming they earned their admission fee in scaling such a high fence.

The inclement weather is not affecting the carnival to any extent. The ground absorbs the water as fast as it rains. The attendance yesterday was larger than any previous day.

RULES FOR THE FOURTH.

Policemen Given Instructions Which They Are Expected to Enforce.

Director Moore of the department of public safety issued a final order yesterday to the police as to their authority in making arrests on July 4. The state law prohibits the shooting of any fireworks whatever on the streets, lanes or alleys, but the director will suspend it for that day only in so far as it relates to everything except Jackson or cannon crackers, whether they contain dynamite or not. The use of small firecrackers will be allowed, but large ones will not, and the order directs the patrolmen to enforce the law in relation to them strictly. They are expected to use their judgment, also, as to how far any shooting will be permitted. There is to be no throwing of lighted crackers at street cars or into crowds or the placing of any explosives on street car tracks.

But one contribution to the Fourth of July fund was received yesterday, the donation being $10 from J. M. Morin. The total of the fund is now $5,435.

SEASON OPENED AT CHAUTAUQUA

Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., of Pittsburgh Delivers the First Sermon.

OVATION TO BISHOP VINCENT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., June 30.—This was the opening day of the thirty-first annual assembly of Chautauqua. Probably owing to the cool weather the audience which assembled in the amphitheater for the devotional hour was rather small. Ten o'clock was the hour appointed, but owing to the tardy arrival of the boat bearing Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the devoional exercises did not commence until a half hour later. After the singing of a couple of hymns, Dr. Dorchester led in prayer. He then delivered an able and earnest sermon on "The Soul's Atmosphere." The audience showed appreciation by the warm reception it gave the speaker after the close of the exercises.

At 11 o'clock an organ recital was given by Dr. Percy J. Staries. The attendance was small. Rain fell just before the hour for the recital. The formal opening of the season of 1904 took place at 3 o'clock. When Bishop Vincent appeared he received quite an ovation. A gavel was presented to Bishop Vincent which had never been used before. W. C. Hills of California, superintendent of the Southern California Sunday schools, had the handle of the gavel made from wood grown on the banks of the Jordan. The new organist of Chautauqua, Dr. F. J. Starnes, formerly organist of All Saints cathedral at Albany, was then introduced.

Bishop Vincent was welcomed as the founder and inspiration of the institution. After the Chautauqua salute, the bishop gave a very pleasant and instructive talk, in which he briefly spoke of the Chautauqua of 30 years ago and of the Chautauqua of today. He enumerated the various views which are held by all Chautauquans, some of them held in common with others. As his open message for Chautauqua for 1904, he begged that all should pledge themselves not only to listen, be enthusiastic and enjoy, but to turn into personal power, by personal decision, every thought that opens up light for us.

It is a little too early in the season for Chautauqua to be well filled. Many of the private cottages are not yet opened. But the outlook for a busy season is very promising.

Hypnotism Proves Successful.

PETERSBURG, June 30.—The treatment of alcoholism by hypnotism, which began at Moscow in 1890 and has been tried at Ekaterinoslaff, Voronezh and other places since, has been inaugurated in St. Petersburg by Dr. R. Z. Bakoff, who investigated the results and claims there have been 70 per cent of radical cures for that system against 30 per cent in the cases of other known cures.

SECRETARY MUST EQUIP INSPECTOR OF WEIGHTS

Attorney General Carson Makes Plea in Mandamus Suit Against Brown.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, June 30.—It is not within the power of the secretary of internal affairs to refuse to equip the inspectors of weights and measures appointed by Gov. Pennypacker for Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Scranton, argued Attorney General Carson before the Dauphin county court today at the hearing on the mandamus suit to compel Secretary Brown to furnish the necessary equipment for these appointees.

Mr. Carson contended that the secretary was a ministerial officer and that he was required by an act passed by the legislature, appropriating $2,500 for equipment of the inspectors in the first and second class cities of the state, to provide them with the necessary standards.

Brown refused to equip the inspectors because he believes the act of 1895, by authority of which they were appointed, is unconstitutional and for the additional reason that the cost of the equipment would exceed the appropriation by several thousand dollars.

The court is expected to decide the case before the summer vacation. Its decision will determine whether inspectors shall be appointed for Philadelphia. The commissioners of that city have not asked the governor to make any appointments because they have been advised by their attorney, Alexander Simpson, Jr., that the act of 1895 is unconstitutional. The inspectors already appointed have never taken office because Secretary Brown has refused to equip them, and without an equipment there is nothing for them to do.

The greatest shirt sale on record
$2.50, $2, $1.50 and $1 shirts for 59c

Big as was our last summer's shirt sale—this one, judging from the response up to this writing, will completely overshadow it, both in extent of patronage and volume of business. The crowds around the counters now are as thick as bees, and men are buying them by the half dozens and dozens. Such selling is without a parallel. And yet it is hardly beyond our expectations, as the values are absolutely unprecedented—the price not covering the cost of the material, in most instances. Think of 59c buying new high-class shirts worth $2.50, $2 and $1.50. Not a shirt in the entire lot is worth less than $1. These shirts were all made for this summer's selling and include such celebrated brands as

Quaker City, Eagle, Faultless, Columbia, Dauntless and Merion

59c The materials include the finest printed and woven madras, cheviot, batiste, jacquard, dimity, etc. The colors and patterns range from plain white to the swellest and most exclusive novelties of the season. We bought carloads of shirts for this sale—think of it—carloads—the biggest purchase on record in the annals of merchandising. Every hour new lots are brought forward to replace those sold. Accordingly, you will always find the counters piled high with new, fresh goods. Choose as many as you wish at 59c each. 59c

Don't fail to get an abundant supply—and pass the good word along to your friends—they'll heartily thank you.

If the Pirates did any loafing at oungstown Wednesday they showed not ne vestige of that disease yesterday afternoon at Steel Works park when they alloped Risher's Homestead outfit, 7 to . The Pirates were not out yesterday o take any chances with an independent team inning and from the very start they got into he game. Lew Moren was on the firing line or the Steel Workers, and he pitched a very reditable game, the big leaguers doing all he damage in two innings, getting three runs n the second and four in the ninth.

Homestead got one man over the home plate hat had Umpire Parry been alert Risher's eam would have had another score, as a long it by Harry Tate into left field was called a oul that to all appearances was fair. Tate was the second man up in the second inning nd he caught one of Miller's slow balls on the nd of his bat and sent it high in the air and ack to the left field fence. The ball traveled ar over Kruger's head and came down near he foul line, fair by two yards, but rolled out into a crowd of spectators. Parry saw he ball rolling into the crowd and declared it oul.

Tate, however, landed on the ball the next ime up for two bases, chasing Sebring to the ight field fence. Sebring got his left hand on he ball, but was unable to hold it and Fohl cored from second, getting Homestead's only un.

The crowd was large, 3,000 fans being in atendance, and the most interest was centered in Stankard, the Holy Cross college player, who as on first base for Bransfield. Stankard is large youth and handled himself around the ase like a ball player, but at the bat he could ot connect safely with Moren's offerings.

Lew Moren's friends were out in full force, he Duquesne Heights contingent making coniderable noise. When Moren came to bat in he third inning, his first time up, he was resented with a diamond stick pin, and he esponded with a hit to middle field for a ingle.

Phelps started the scoring in the second y lacing a two-bagger to left field, and Sebring ut him on third with a single through the nfield. Ritchey shot the ball into right for hree sacks, Phelps and Sebring scoring. Stankard put the ball on the ground, but McClintock failed to connect with it in the proper anner and Ritchey tallied. In the fourth nning Fohl walked, stole second and scored n Tate's two-bagger.

Sebring opened the ninth with a two-bagger o middle field. It was on the Texas league rder, and by the time Tate had it in the nfield Sebring was anchored on second. Fohl ropped the third strike on Ritchey and then ailed to catch Sebring at third, both runners eing safe. Ritchey reached second on a assed ball and Stankard walked, filling the ases. Lindsay caught Miller's foul fly, but each shot a single over second, scoring ebring. Beaumont drove a liner towards right hich Lindsay broke down but threw over McClintock's head at second, Ritchey, Leach nd Stankard scoring. The next two men hen went out in order. The score:

YALE WINS THE FRESHMEN RACE

Was a Neck-and-Neck Struggle and Only Won by Half-Second.

MANAGEMENT WAS VERY BAD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW LONDON, CONN., June 30—The thousands who journeyed to the Thames today for the annual Yale-Harvard boat races saw one of the best freshmen races that has ever been rowed on any course, and then for eight hours the crowd sat in the rain and waited in vain, first for the varsity four-oared race, which was postponed, and finally for the big varsity eight-oared race. Finally, early in the evening, both the varsity and four-oared races were put over until tomorrow.

Yale won the freshmen race by half a second or a quarter of a boat's length. For the two miles of this race the two shells zigzagged, and neither crew ever had a lead of more than a length. It was one of the most remarkable boat races in the history of the intercollegiate rowing.

The postponement of the varsity race brought forth much criticism. Throughout the entire day there seemed to be a lack of system in the handling of the races. The freshmen event was delayed for 50 minutes by one mishap after another, and by the time it was finished it was found impossible to put on the varsity four-oared race, since the varsity eight-oared race was scheduled for 12:30 o'clock. The race for the big eights could have been rowed at that hour had the officials of the day been prompt, but there was a long delay. The wind freshened and the race was postponed, first until 1:15, then until 2:30, next until 4:15, and again until 7 o'clock, when it was put over. As the afternoon wore on the southeast wind which had been blowing all day grew stiffer and stiffer until it was absolutely impossible for any crew to row. The only hour at which the race could have been rowed was 12:30 o'clock.

One of the biggest crowds in the history of these races came by rail and water to witness today's regatta. Possibly there were not so many steam yachts as usual, but the general attendance was a record breaker. Despite a leaden sky from which the rain began to fall early in the morning and continued all day long in drizzles, with now and then a regular downpour, the spectators in undiminished numbers waited patiently. Not until a definite announcement was made did they give up the hope of seeing the long-looked-for struggle between the varsity crews of Yale and Harvard.

The eight-oared race will be rowed upstream tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., after which the fours will be sent away.

After the freshmen eights reached the starting flags—and that was long after the time set—Harvard dragged her stake boat, and for a quarter of an hour Referee Meikelhum labored with the shells to get them lined up. The delay was very trying for the crews. Finally at the sound of the pistol both eights dashed away in splendid style. Yale showed in better form at the start than Harvard, and for the first eighth of a mile had a trifle the better of it. Then the Harvard men settled down and slowly drove their boat to the front. Yale was rowing 34 and the crimson 32. Raising her stroke a point or two, Harvard reached the half-mile flag a third of a length in the lead. Harvard finished the mile in 5 minutes 9 seconds; Yale in 5 minutes 10 seconds.

Over the next half-mile the struggle was superb. Each crew raised its stroke one point. Harvard steered out of her course in order to catch better water and Yale followed her. At the mile and a half flat the two boats were exactly even, nose for nose. The time for each crew for the mile and a half was 7 minutes 50 seconds. Just as the last half-mile flag was passed Yale began the spurt that won the race. She jumped her stroke up to 36 and began to pull ahead inch by inch. Harvard did not make her effort until an eighth of a mile from the finish. Then her stroke went to 38, but it was too late. Yale was leading by the length of her canvas bow as the flags dipped at the finish. The two flags went down almost simultaneously, and it was several minutes before the crews knew who had won. Finally the referee shouted out the name of the winner, and the Yale youngsters sat up in their shell and gave a Yale cheer with "Harvard" on the end of it. Yale had won by just half a second. Yale's time was 10:20; Harvard's 10:20½.

The crews had a fair wind, but practically no tide, and, considering this fact, the time was fast. The prediction made last night by John Kennedy of Yale that the freshmen race was a toss up came true. Two crews more evenly matched had never met.

As soon as the referee announced at 7 o'clock that the varsity race would be postponed until tomorrow both Harvard and Yale got into their shells for a little practice. The wind was blowing so fiercely that it was not possible for the crews to do anything more than warm up. After three minutes of practice both eights housed their shells for the night.

Baseball Cases Are Adjudged.

STEEL GRANDSTAND AND TRACK FOR HORSEMEN

Director Bigelow Tells Schenley Matinee Club He Will Make Improvements at Its Course.

At a meeting of the Schenley Matinee club, held last night at the board of trade rooms, East End, it was stated that Director Bigelow has promised to build a regulation half-mile track at Schenley park, also a steel grandstand that will hold from 3,000 to 5,000 persons, and cooling-off stables for the horses. Minor improvements are also contemplated.

A delegation of horsemen yesterday visited Director Bigelow and after making clear the needs of improvements at Schenley park track they secured his promise to have them brought about. The improvements will be finished before fall. The Matinee club has men working on the track, which will be finished by Saturday night. The first meeting will be held next Wednesday afternoon.

Secretary Ed. Kern, at last night's meeting, showed a large increase in the club's membership and the members at the meeting were very enthusiastic over the prospects for a successful season. There will be more horses and of a higher class in the races this year.

The hour of starting will be earlier. Last year the races were started late in the afternoon and often they were not finished until dark. By starting earlier the patrons of the track will be given the opportunity of getting home to dinner in regular time.

ANDERSON IN THE LEAD.

The National Golf Champion Is Likely to Add Western Title to His List.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., June 30.—With one-half of the play in the fifth Western Golf association open tourney concluded today, on the links of the Kent Country club, National Champion Willie Anderson leads the field with a score of 154, just three strokes better than the total of Alexander Smith of Nassau, title holder. Tied with Smith at 157 is Harry Turpie, Auburn Park expert, while Bob Simpson of Riverside is close up with 159. Lawrence Auchterlonie of Glenview, former western and national champion, is tied at 160, with R. McAndrews, the Wollaston player.

Tomorrow the final scoring of the tourney over 36 holes will be done and the champion doubtless will come from the group mentioned above. Twice has Anderson won the national event and his victory at Euclid in the western two years ago with a marvelous total of 99 makes him favorite for the western honors this time. Today's struggle among the experts practically resolves itself into a rivalry between St. Andrews, North Berwick and Carnoustie, Scotland. Anderson hails from North Berwick and Smith and Simpson are Carnoustie exponents, while Turpie is a St. Andrews product. Only two amateurs are left in the field and each is assured a medal. B. P. McKinnie of St. Louis, with a commanding lead over G. F. Clingman, Jr., of Homewood, seems the likely winner of the gold medal. Threatening weather marked the early hours, but later golfers conditions were superb.

Field Club Cricket Eleven Has Some Strong Teams to Meet.

The cricket team of the Pittsburgh Field club left last evening for Cleveland, where it plays two important games before returning home to play Allegheny County on the local grounds on Monday. Today's game will be with Toronto university, one of the strongest teams in Canada, while tomorrow's game will be with the Cleveland club.

The Pittsburgh club will be handicapped by the absence of their captain, George Macpherson, and F. H. Taylor, who on account of business reasons were unable to make the trip. With the following players, however, the team should give a good account of itself, viz: R. H. Roberts (captain), T. C. Clement, F. C. Taylor, John Bissell, Bryan Robertson, C. McV. McCance, J. Toddie, T. A. Lamb, T. Watkins, B. Harding, J. A. Stewart and Tom Bissell. John Blewitt, the veteran groundkeeper, will accompany the players, and act as umpire.

P. A. C. Defeats Elks.

The Elks scored in the first on Slevin's triple and Steen's double. This will be the last P. A. C. game at Friendship park until next Wednesday, as they go to Rochester on Saturday and will be in Youngstown on the Fourth for two games with Marty Hogan's crack Ohio Works bunch. Score:

P. A. C.	0 1 1 0 0	2	7	0

SOCIETY

MANY Pittsburgh people were interested yesterday in a Rochester wedding, the bride being the third daughter of Henry C. Fry of Rochester, Pa. Although a quiet affair, with none but relatives and intimate friends in attendance, the marriage of Miss Mabel Mildred Fry to William Fearnley Bonnell of Cleveland, O., was a pretty one. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. B. F. Woodburn, pastor of the Sandusky Street Baptist church of Allegheny. The bride was unattended. She was gowned in white lace, with full bridal veil fastened with orange blossoms, and carried white orchids and bridal roses. Her only ornament was a beautiful pearl necklace. Mrs. Fry was gowned in black and white, a handsome lace robe over chiffon and silk, and received with the bride and bridegroom. The bride's two sisters, Mrs. Alexander M. Jenkinson of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Harry Sage of Beaver were in the receiving group, Mrs. Jenkinson wearing an exquisite gown of blue and white and Mrs. Sage appearing in the same colors.

Addison Hough of Cleveland, O., was best man. At the wedding supper covers were laid for 100 guests. The bride's table was placed on the front piazza, which was screened with palms. The table was prettily decorated with white sweet peas, ferns and smilax, tied with white ribbons. The decorations throughout the house were in white and green.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonnell left for New York City last evening and will sail on Wednesday for an extended European trip. They will be at home in Cleveland on their return in September.

Among the Pittsburghers who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander M. Jenkinson, Mrs. Richard Jenkinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Everson, Miss Grace Everson and Miss Mary Everson. Several guests were present from Youngstown and Cleveland. The wedding gifts were arranged on tables in a room on the second floor and comprised many exquisite pieces of silver and cut glass. The bride has many friends in Pittsburgh, where she frequently visited. She was educated at Miss Mittleberger's school in Cleveland and then attended Vassar college, from which she was graduated a couple of years ago.

Heaps-Hirsch.

St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church in Craft avenue was the scene of a pretty little wedding last evening, when Miss Sarah Agnes Heaps, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Heaps of Greentree borough, became the bride of Richard Hirsch of this city. The wedding hour was 6 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Edward H. Ward, rector of the church, reading the marriage service. Miss Gertrude Heaps, a younger sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. George Heaps, was the matron of honor, the two bridesmaids being Miss Lily MacArthur of New York and Miss Elizabeth Loomis. David Ferguson was best man, while Albert Ducksam, the Rev. Ambrose Beavin, assistant rector at St. Peter's, George Fox and J. W. Todd served as ushers.

The bride's attendants marched in single file from the vestry rooms in the chancel to the rear of the church, the maid of honor leading and followed by Mrs. Heaps and the two bridesmaids. At the door they met the bride and, preceded by the ushers, advanced to the chancel in reverse order.

A reception was held in the new home which Mr. Hirsch has built for his bride in Margaretta street, where they will be at home after August 1. The house was beautifully, although simply, decorated, maidenhair ferns banking the mantel and pink and white roses adorning the supper tables. The bride's table had a centerpiece of white roses and white sweet peas. Palms formed the sole decoration at the church.

Successful in Spite of Rain.

Despite the heavy rain the United Presbyterian Home for the Aged will be greatly benefited by the lawn fete held yesterday on the grounds surrounding the home in Wilkinsburg. Hundreds of visitors were present and the booths were all well patronized. A long tent was used for the ice cream tables at one side of the grounds, while on the opposite side were 19 supper tables, each prettily decorated with bunches of flowers. Two candy booths, one indoors and the other outside, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert W. Smith, were features of the affair. DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN

Requires Treatment Which Acts in Harmony with the Female System.

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary medical treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by derangement of the female organism, and which while it causes disturbance similar to ordinary indigestion cannot be relieved without a medicine which not only acts as a stomach tonic, but has peculiar utero-tonic effects as well; in other words, a derangement of the female organs may have such a disturbing effect upon a woman's whole system as to cause serious indigestion and dyspepsia, and it cannot be relieved without curing the original cause of the trouble, which seems to find its source in the pelvic organs. As proof of this theory, we call attention to the letters from Mrs. Maggie Wright and Mrs. Emma Sawyer, who were completely cured by the use of

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years I suffered more or less with dyspepsia which so degenerated my entire system that I was unfit to properly attend to my daily duties. I felt weak and nervous, and nothing I ate tasted good or felt comfortable in my stomach. I tried several dyspepsia cures, but nothing seemed to help me permanently. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and was happily surprised to find that it acted like a fine tonic, and in a few days I began to enjoy and properly digest my food. My recovery was rapid, and in five weeks I was a different woman. Seven bottles completely cured me, and a dozen or more of my friends have used it since."—MRS. MAGGIE WRIGHT, 13 Van Voorhis St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.
Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I will write and let you know how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I cannot express the terrible suffering I have had to endure. I was taken last May with nervous prostration, also had female trouble, liver, stomach, kidney and bladder trouble. I was in a terrible condition.

"The doctor attended me for a year, but I kept getting worse. I got so I was not able to do any work. Was confined to my bed most of the time and thought I would never be able to do anything. People thought I would not live. I decided to try your medicine. I have taken twelve bottles of Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it too highly, for I know it will do all and even more than it is recommended to do.

"I will tell every suffering woman about your medicine and urge them to try it."—MRS. EMMA SAWYER, Conyers, Ga.

Many women whose letters we print were utterly discouraged, and life lacked all joy to them when they wrote Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., without charge of any kind. They received advice which made them strong, useful women again.

THE NEW YORK MARKET WAS DULL BUT STRONG

Metropolitan Street Railway a Feature of the Dealings—Local Stocks Firm—Federal National Bank Again Becomes a Dividend-Payer.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a slight increase in the volume of business on the New York stock exchange yesterday and a slight net gain in prices, but the trading was still very professional. Metropolitan Street Railway was the leader in point of activity and display of strength during the early part of the session, and advanced to 111½, but it was one of the few stocks which closed at a net loss for the day. The stock has been oversold, bears feeling confident of their position on account of decreasing earnings and the publication of facts showing the amount of "water" in its capitalization. These facts were not new, but the public mind was supposed to be more receptive to such criticism now than when the stock was being manipulated. All that has been published about net earnings and capitalization may be entirely true, but when a stock becomes oversold it is easier to advance the price on a short interest than it is to advance the price of an investment security on improving earnings. This appears to have been the situation in Metropolitan, and the professionals—who may be bulls today and bears tomorrow—took advantage of the situation and engineered a "squeeze" of the shorts. To help along the movement a story was industriously circulated that the Interborough Company would guarantee the dividend on Metropolitan and take in all the traction interests. An emphatic denial of this story was responsible for the reaction which occurred in the stock during the late session.

There was very little feature to the remainder of the market. Ontario & Western was moderately active and advanced a fraction, although the directors had decided against the request of the stockholders to dissolve the voting trust. Canadian Pacific was also firm and higher on purchases by foreigners. Pennsylvania held steady in spite of reports of an enormous reduction in coke output and of preparations for curtailing pig iron production, which, of course, foreshadows a falling off in traffic. The same narrow fluctuations witnessed of late characterized the dealings in the grangers, but prices closed firm. U. S. Steel preferred ranged between 55⅜ and 55⅝, and the bonds between 75⅝ and 75¾, and both closed firm. An official of the corporation was quoted as saying that earnings for the quarter just ended were much better than previous estimates, and would be nearer $20,000,000 than $18,000,000, or sufficient to meet all charges and the full dividend on the preferred stock. Amalgamated Copper was dull but firm, closing at a slight gain. The market today is likely to be extremely dull, as it will be the last until next Tuesday.

The weekly reports of the foreign banks reflected the usual expansion in loans which is seen at the end of a quarterly or semi-annual settlement period. The Bank of England reported an increase of $57,475,000 in loans, a decrease of $8,035,000 in total reserve, and a reduction in the reserve to liability of about 10 per cent as compared with a week ago. The Bank of France reported an increase in loans of $33,865,000 and a decrease of $2,785,000 in gold on hand. Readjustment quickly follows the large changes which occur at these periods, and next week will probably witness a return to normal conditions. Foreign bank rates remained unchanged.

An interesting announcement in Pittsburgh yesterday was the resumption of dividends at the rate of 6 per cent per annum by the Federal National bank, which declared 1½ per cent out of the earnings of the last quarter. The Federal National closed its doors last October, reopened in December, and in January the capital of $2,000,000 was reduced to $1,000,000 capital and $1,000,000 surplus. The dividend declared yesterday is on the $1,000,000 capital. Earlier in the week the First National of Allegheny, which had been affiliated with the Federal National, resumed dividends. Both institutions are now separate and distinct, but are under conservative management, and the action in resuming dividends may be accepted as proof that the weakness which developed in the local banking situation last year has entirely disappeared.

There was not much to the local stock market yesterday, the sales falling below 1,000 shares. The bulk of the business was contributed by three stocks, two of which were strong and higher. Westinghouse Electric advanced to 77⅛ and Manufacturers Light and Heat was a half point higher, selling at 30 ex-dividend. Crucible Steel common lost a small fraction by selling at 4, but closed at 4⅛ bid. Electric first preferred advanced a dollar a share to 95, Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 5s were 1 per cent higher at 100.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

There is more real significance to the resumption of dividends by the First National of Allegheny and the Federal National of Pittsburgh than any other event of the week in local financial circles. Both banks are under experienced and conservative management, and it may be safely asserted that neither would have re-entered the ranks of dividend-payers if the outlook did not assure the permanency of the position. A number of other local financial institutions have increased the rate of dividend paid, and one, the Washington National, has declared its initial distribution to stockholders—all of which speaks well for the local banking situation.

The surface of the New York money market was absolutely unruffled yesterday, despite the advent of the semi-annual settlement period. Call loans closed at 1 per cent, and time loans were easy and unchanged.

Pittsburgh bank exchanges for June, as will be seen in the comparative table in another column, foot up $172,138,022, a decrease of $50,500,000 compared with June, 1903, but an increase of $6,558,000 compared with May, 1904. The total for the half year is $983,280,869, a decrease of $272,000,000 compared with the same time in 1903.

There were no sales of any of the local coal stocks yesterday, and prices closed nominally unchanged.

Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 5s yesterday sold at par for the first time since August, 1902, and a recovery of 10½ per cent from the low price of the year. The bonds are now within 3 per cent of the highest price ever quoted early in 1903.

There was sold for account at auction yesterday 15 shares Colonial Trust at 350. After the sale 20 shares were offered regular at 330.

Payment on account of the Japanese loan subscriptions, estimated to call for over $12,000,000, was made yesterday in New York in addition to the routine disbursements called for at the turn of the half year. The subtreasury made a payment of $1,100,000 on account of Philippine revenue operations and of $549,000 on account of Klondike gold deposited at Seattle. A transfer from San Francisco also figured in the sub-treasury operations and that institution will begin the payment of government interest today.

At the last quarterly meeting of the United States Steel directors the public was warned to disregard anonymous statements regarding the company's affairs which might be credited to officers or directors, since all official statements would be accompanied by the name of a responsible officer. Nevertheless the following was issued in Wall street yesterday and credited to a representative of the corporation: "The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the second quarter of the current year will be considerably in excess of previous estimates. Reports already received from subsidiary companies indicate that the net earnings for the second quarter will be between $19,000,000 and $20,000,000, or about $1,200,000 in excess of recent estimates. I figure that the net earnings of the Steel Corporation for 1904 will be enough to pay 7 per cent on the preferred stock, with sinking funds and depreciation fully protected. The earnings of the United States Steel Corporation in the year 1905, I believe, will be very favorable."

The net earnings of St. Paul for May decreased $165,000.

Lehigh Valley's May surplus for all companies was $387,205, a decrease of $207,640.

Robert Ostermaier has been elected a member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

The directors of the American Tobacco Company have declared the regular quarterly dividends of 2 per cent on the preferred stock and 3 per cent on the common, payable August 1. Books close July 25 and reopen August 2.

The New York Journal of Commerce yesterday published an article on the plate and window glass industry, describing the situation as critical in the extreme, and alleging that within three months there had been a decline of 25 per cent in the price of plate glass and of 18 per cent in window glass. The article concluded as follows: "The plate glass business in this country is practically controlled by eight of the larger companies, namely, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, the Penn-American Plate Glass Company, the Standard Plate Glass Company, the Allegheny Plate Glass Company, Katamaning Plate Glass Company and the Butler Plate Glass Company. Of the plate glass manufactured in the United States, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, it is understood, handles about 60 per cent and the other companies the remaining 40 per cent. Last year, in round numbers, the consumption of glass in this country was 36,000,000 feet, of which about 8,000,000 feet were imported. An idea of the state of affairs can be gained from the fact that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company by a series of cuts in prices during March, April and May reduced their prices from a discount of 80, 10 and 5 per cent on the price list to 85 per cent and 20 per cent, which amounts to a reduction from 17.1 to 12. That the supply has had practically no bearing on the window glass decline is shown by the fact that on June 1, 1904, there were 1,500,000 feet less than on June 1, 1903, while there is said to be a scarcity in some of the most popular sizes, particularly in double strengths. In regard to the matter of supply, however, one prominent official said yesterday: 'The cheapness of plate glass has undoubtedly had its effect on the window glass business, for when people can buy plate glass for nearly the same price they are accustomed to buying window glass for, they are bound to chose the former in most instances.' "

Commenting upon the Journal of Commerce statement that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has led in the slashing of prices, a local stockholder said: "Whether this is true or not, I believe it is a fact that recent improvements made in the plant at Ford City have so strengthened the position of the company that it is thoroughly master of the situation. I am told that the net result of the improvements at the Ford City plant is that the company can now turn out 5,000,000 feet of plate glass at a cost of $200,000 less than the cost of producing 2,500,000 feet before the changes were made." An independent producer of window glass, commenting upon the state of that trade, said: "This week we were offered an advance of 5 per cent over our asking price two weeks ago for our entire stock of glass on hand, amounting to between 12,000 and 15,000 boxes. This offer did not come from a manufacturer and was not a bluff, but was made by a jobber who meant business. It was the best proof I have seen recently of an improvement in the tone of the market for window glass."

The surplus earnings of Ontario & Western for May decreased $57,000.

The gross earnings of Chicago & Alton for May increased $5,225 and net earnings decreased $32,000.

The net earnings of the "Soo" road for May decreased $71,000.

LOCAL SECURITIES IN JUNE.

The transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange in June were less than half the total for any previous month of the year. In the list of stocks final prices show net losses for 21, net gains for 17 and unchanged prices for eight, as compared with the last previous sale of the year. The total sales of stocks were 29,007 shares, as compared with 51,110 shares in May and 138,535 shares in June a year ago. The change in the character of the market was even more striking than the decrease in business. Bond sales for June, 1904, foot up $141,000, par value, or exactly double the bond sale for June, 1903. Sales of bank and trust company shares, however, (excluding stocks sold at nominal prices for account of whom it may concern to change title) were less than 400 shares, as compared with more than 7,000 shares in the corresponding month last year. The most conspicuous feature of the month just closed was the absolute elimination of purely speculative operations and the revival of a strictly investment demand. A year ago the market was beginning to discount the troublous times that were in store for the last half of 1903. At present the market is beginning, apparently, to discount a turn for the better. The first signs of such turn is almost invariably a demand for the best grade of bonds, which eventually extends to second grade bonds and then to the better class of investment stocks. The most active stock during the past month was Pittsburgh Coal preferred, which advanced from 54½ to 58 and closed at 57¾. One of the weakest stocks was River Coal preferred, which established a new low point by selling down to 20¾ and rallied to 21¾. The strength of Pittsburgh Coal was based upon the resumption of lake business, while the weakness in River Coal was due to rumors that the semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent due this month would be reduced or passed. Westinghouse Electric sold down to 76½, ex-dividend, the low price of the year, but recovered to and closed at 77⅞. Westinghouse Airbrake declined to 127, but recovered to 129. In the corresponding month a year ago more than 26,000 shares Crucible Steel common and preferred changed hands, while in the month just closed the sales approximated 5,000 shares. The falling off in dealings in United States Steel was relatively as great. The following table shows the range of prices and sales for all securities dealt in during June, 1904:

PUTS A PREMIUM ON WRONG DOING

Important Decision Affecting Building Contractors and Owners of Property.

PECULIAR BANKRUPTCY CASE

Judge Brown rendered an important decision yesterday in the suit of Nicholas Wolf against the Glassport Lumber Company to restrain the defendant from filing a lien against the plaintiff's property. He overruled a motion to dissolve a preliminary injunction against the defendant, and makes it perpetual. The court finds an agreement existed in the contract by which the defendant was to file no liens against the property. In reference to the defendant's contention that the plaintiff had adequate remedy in law the court says in part:

"Must an owner await the filing of a lien and then take such measures as he may to remove the encumbrance? We think not. For if that were the only remedy it would be grossly inadequate—inequitably placing a premium upon wrongdoing and through a long period of litigation subjecting his property to the charge of a non-lien claim."

The bankruptcy case of F. W. Hess & Co. of Smoke Run, Clearfield county, has been sent to a receiver to take testimony. Creditors named William Hess of Pittsburgh, William F. Jacoby and Frederick B. Lott of Philadelphia, as members of the firm. Hess filed an answer admitting the insolvency of the firm and stating that Jacoby and Lott were partners. This is denied by the latter.

The grand jury returned the following true bills: Burglary, Chauncey Hays; false pretense, David Guyton, A. Gordon, Frank Ritchey; keeping a gambling house, William Conwell, J. E. McIntyre; selling liquor illegally, Joseph Bude (2); Franzeska Bude (2); Bridget Dugane, Charles Holeman et al., Joseph Jackson, Bill Mooney et al., Henry Swingsberg et al. (2); Joseph Conner, Peter Debaure (2); misdemeanor, Concensio Granda, Mincio Granda, Henry Walters, Lillian Walters; felonious assault and battery, Gober Hatskos; assault and battery, Benjamin Brandsteiter, Fletcher Lauman, Edward Sprague; larceny, Gottlieb Byers, Toney Nearson, Frank Nifkofski et al., Charles Schinski et al.

Dell Barnhart pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary and was sentenced to three years in the Western penitentiary.

George W. Thompson, alias Taylor, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement and one of false pretense. He was sent to the workhouse for one year.

Robert Jones pleaded guilty to two charges of selling liquor illegally. He was sentenced to pay $550 and costs and serve four months in the workhouse.

F. G. Brown has sued Amy H. Dupuy and others for $10,000 damages. The suit grows out of the alterations of the Hamilton building.

Violet Snive has sued Bernard Kerns and W. J. Morris for $10,000 damages. She alleges she conducted a grocery and meat store at 409 Carson street under a five-year lease from Cecelia McCabe, the alleged owner of the building. On April 20, 1904, she says the defendants unlawfully carried her stock of goods out on the street.

Harry Lisbon has sued Charles Donnelly for $10,000 for personal injuries. The suit grows out of the elevator accident at 1026 Fifth avenue on May 22, 1903, in which several were killed.

Achilles Williamson sued J. J. Flannery for $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received in an elevator in the Forbes street flats.

Miss Fannie Fowler sued the Pittsburgh & Western Railroad Company for $50,000 damages for injuries to the spine alleged to have been received in a collision at Wittmer station on September 10, 1902.

Michael Blasco sued the State Mutual Fire Insurance Company for $1,000, alleged to be due on a policy.

Harry Mayer sued Robert Saxton for alleged false arresting, asking $500.

Michael Crilley sued the city of Pittsburgh for $5,000, alleging he was injured by the railing on the Thirty-third street bridge giving away.

Rosa Bittner sued John Bittner for $2,000 damages, alleging a personal assault.

James Lally sued the Dravo Construction Company for $20,000 damages, alleging he was injured while at work on a derrick of the company.

The following executions were issued: W. [illegible] et al. vs. D. Waldschmidt, $1,000; [illegible] C. [illegible] vs. William M. Mateer, [illegible]

SEMBLANCE OF STRENGTH IN THE STOCK MARKET

Accounts Were Evened Up Prior to the Triple Holiday in Wall Street.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 1.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says:

Very little of importance developed in the stock market yesterday. It was noted, however, that the profit-taking of the early days of the week ceased and the evening-up of other accounts, prior to the triple holiday, gave the market some semblance of strength. The feeling was more hopeful and similar to that which pervaded the financial district several days ago. There was a slight increase in business, distributed among the leading stocks, for which there is a ready market. This small increase in business originated as a result of the evening of traders, or it might have been due, as it was pointed out in certain quarters, to the belief that the investment demand in high priced stocks foreshadowed an improvement in the stock list. With one or two exceptions, however, the stock market operators were playing the game alone and as experience has taught there is no fun or profit in solitaire.

Sentiment was influenced by the more hopeful tone of the reports concerning the cotton outlook. Authentic compilations of the condition of the growing crop indicate that cotton had made a substantial improvement during the month just closed. Most of the improvement was noted in the three principal cotton producing states, so that in a measure the report giving a condition of 83 was believed to be slightly below what the government will report next week. Wheat and corn advices were slightly better, but the prices for these cereals closed unchanged. Wheat, however, was inclined to be sold. Great interest is felt everywhere in the outcome of the crops, on the belief that if favorable progress is reported, a stimulus will be thus given very early to the manufacturing business and the railroads may also buy in anticipation.

News of the day was of such character that it did not exert much influence on the course of prices. Railroad reports were not reassuring as usual, although the point was made that if there were not the boom times of the last two or three years, with which to make comparisons, the earnings might be considered satisfactory. That business is contracting and that that profits of stock corporations are becoming smaller were brought out by the action of the American Car and Foundry Company directors in deciding to omit the dividend on the common stock. This announcement was not made known until after the close of business. The resignation of the former president of the United States Steel Corporation from the directorate of the company caused only passing comment, as it was generally known that it was the plan to accept Mr. Schwab's resignation within a month or two after the annual meeting.

The sale did not take place and she was sent back to harbor at the Falls City. The General Poe, a Kentucky river towboat which has been on the Queen City marine ways for several weeks undergoing repairs, was let off the cradles today. PILOTS TO TAKE ACTION.

Meeting Will Be Held to Urge Immediate Work on Merriman Channel.

At a meeting of Harbor 25, Masters and Pilots association, to be held tomorrow, action will be taken regarding the condition of the new Merriman channel, near Sewickley. It will be decided to draw up and sign a petition, which will be sent to government officials, requesting immediate improvements.

There will be particular mention of stones that are said to be a great menace to navigation there. It has been decided to widen the channel, but river pilots are anxious that something be done there soon to avoid serious accidents in the event of a quick rise, though they say there is not a pilot who is not afraid to take a boat through the place in question now. It is likely that the improvement will be pushed during the next few weeks.

A First-Class Fleet.

C. Jutte & Co. have expended about $50,000 in overhauling their steamers since the close of the winter season. All boats belonging to the firm, including the W. C. Jutte, Crescent, Oakland, Aubrey, Ford City, Robert Taylor, G. W. Thomas and P. M. Pfeil, have been remodeled and made practically new. The Charley Jutte was a new boat this spring, and the Gleaner, which has been on the docks at Marietta, Mr. Jutte announced yesterday, will be off in a few days, equipped to tow 40 coal-boats. She will have a 28-inch cylinder with a nine-foot stroke. Her boiler power has been increased considerably also.

Local River Notes.

The stage of water in the Ohio river, according to the gauges at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night, was 4.7 feet and rising.

The Greenwood will arrive from Charleston today.

The Greenland will arrive from St. Louis Saturday.

The Virginia will be here from Cincinnati tomorrow.

The Lorena will be the Zanesville packet Saturday and the Columbia will be the Morgantown packet today.

The story of war between the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati line and the White Collar line is again going the rounds. The story comes from Marietta this time, and its author says the information is authentic. The statement is not denied now that the local line is soliciting trade between Cincinnati and Pomeroy, and the belief prevails that both lines will enter each other's territory with the opening up of business in September.

TWO RESIDENCES SOLD FOR $28,000

W. A. Avey and Samuel R. Shumaker Buy Fine Homes in Sewickley.

NEW MAPLE GROVE HOUSES

Two fine residence properties in Sewickley were disposed of yesterday through the Real Estate Trust Company for $28,000, or $14,000 each. One of them was bought by W. A. Avey, industrial manager of the Real Estate Trust Company, who has been living several months in Economy. The other buyer was Samuel R. Shumaker, second vice president of the National Bank of Western Pennsylvania, who now lives in Sewickley. The houses are two of five which Henry A. Davis and Charles McKnight erected in Boundary street and which have never been occupied. They are 12-room, reception hall, pressed brick dwellings on lots 0x140 feet. Each house contains two tile bath rooms and is finished in hard wood. The location, on a spot near Beaver street, which commands a splendid view, makes the properties among the most desirable of the new houses in the Sewickley valley.

Fine Houses for Maple Grove.

The Home Trust Company, which lately ecured the management of the Maple Grove llotment, formerly the McDonald and Nevin roperties, at Sewickley, is having plans prepared for six houses, to be finished by October. The houses will be built in Maple avenue n lots averaging 40x150 feet each. They will e 10-room, reception hall brick dwellings, nd will cost $8,000 each. Four more houses will be started next week by individual lot wners, two in Maple avenue and two in adjacent streets. One of these residences will ost $10,000 and the others $7,000 each. The ompany has nearly completed the work of utting in sewers and water mains and will hortly begin the laying of granolithic sidewalks on all the streets. A building line of 5 feet has been established, making it practically impossible to mar the natural beauty f the plan by unsightly properties.

George N. Powell, who some time ago bought he Green property, 80x200 feet, at Denniston venue and Walnut street, back of the Hotel Kenmawr, in the East End, has the foundations started for six houses. Two of them, costing $10,000 each, will be 12-room, center all brick houses, facing in Denniston avenue. The other four will cost $5,000 each and will e in Walnut street. Mr. Powell has also tarted four houses in Stratton lane, between owe and Walnut streets, which will cost 000 each.

Although not generally known, the Wabash assenger station will be largely devoted to eneral office purposes and not exclusively to ilroad uses. Burns & Reilly have secured e agency for the building and are rushing e work of finishing the offices to suit the nants. There will be 141 offices, all above e fourth floor. These will be finished single n ensuite to suit the tenants, and will all ready for occupancy by August 1. A separate office entrance will be provided in Liberty venue and a second system of elevators entirely separate from those used in the passenger station. For many purposes the building ill have peculiar advantages and its location should make it a ready renter.

The Iron City Improvement Company, with capital of $12,000, has secured a Pennsylvania charter. The incorporators are Attorney alph Longenecker, R. M. Campbell and E. B. ull of this city. The company will be a ilding corporation, designed to take title to operty now held by individual members.

The Harmony Land Company has also applied for a charter, the promoters being Willard H. Say, K. R. Wagner and W. S. Dickn. It proposes to do a general real estate usiness.

Architects Busy With Public Work.

In the face of conditions that are keeping any corporations and individuals from building this season, there is a rush of work on ublic buildings of all sorts. Hardly an architect in the city that has not from one to six uildings of this kind, few of which cost less han $30,000, and some of which run well into he millions. The boroughs surrounding Pittsburgh and the small towns throughout Western ennsylvania are floating bond issues to provide for the erection of municipal buildings and chool houses. Churches, too, are unusually ctive in getting new houses of worship, and in pite of the business depression are receiving arge gifts to carry on the work. No branch building has kept up so well this year as ese public works, and indications point to a brisk business in this line during the fall months.

The old Singer residence in Singer place, Wilkinsburg, one of the historic homesteads of that borough, has been transformed in the last few weeks into an attractive club house. The property was bought in the spring by Dowling & Reed and has been remodeled and refitted at a cost of over $5,000. It will be used for a family club house, and the project already has the support of many well-known families of Wilkinsburg.

In another column will be found a complete summary of real estate and building operations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the first six months of 1904, which ended yesterday, and a comparison of this period with previous corresponding intervals. In general, the real estate record is not encouraging. Sales have fallen away below those of last year. But when the volume of business is compared with that done in stocks or mining, or in any lines of mercantile business, it is seen to be above the average. Brokers who have passed through similar periods of slight depression are almost unanimous in their opinion that general business conditions now point to a substantial revival in real estate this fall. Building records of the first half of this year are much more encouraging and show that the two cities are growing rapidly.

The Drygoods Market.

TEXAS PEACHES HERE; NEW CURRANTS ARRIVE

Several Markets Have Firmer Feeling—Eggs and Cheese Are Booming.

There was a firmer feeling on both potatoes and tomatoes. Seven cars of potatoes arrived and the tomato receipts were three cars. Indications point to an upward tendency in this line for a while. There was considerable improvement in raspberries. Strawberries will last but a few days longer. The first Elberta, Texas, peaches came in yesterday and brought fair prices. Florida stock also came in and was in good demand. Both orange and pineapple receipts were light and the markets are active. Six carloads of cantaloupes and seven carloads of watermelons arrived and commanded full prices. Both kinds were wanted and the receipts were cleaned up early. Georgia cantaloupes are now coming in. There is an easier feeling on cucumbers, which have been coming in in big quantities lately. The receipts yesterday were but four cars. New peas are quoted lower, the home raised having begun to move quite freely. New Maryland currants came in yesterday for the first time.

As had been expected there was an advance of 5 cents on sugar, effective yesterday. Quotations below have been changed accordingly. The market continues firm as does coffee. There was no change in the local flour situation. Poultry is wanted and the same is more true every day of dried and smoked meats. Reports were received here yesterday of a big shrinkage in the egg supply of the middle west; there is a firm market in this line here and everywhere. Some dealers were talking 20 cents yesterday, but no sales were made above 19. The cheese market is in a somewhat excited condition now and butter rules steady to firm locally. The local hay market has not yet shown any improvement. No. 1 timothy hay offered at $14 50 and the bids were $12 50, $13 00 and $13 25; a car of No. 1 and No. 2 offered at $13 50, with no bids. A car of mixed corn offered at 54c with no bids. No. 2 white oats is offering at 47c and 46½c, but one car on the Baltimore & Ohio offered yesterday at 46c. Good No. 2 ear corn offered at 58c, but sales are scant just now, buying being only for immediate wants, as is true of flour and many other commodities.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 28 cars hay, 29 cars oats, 4 cars feed, 1 car straw, 1 car corn and oats; Baltimore & Ohio, 7 cars hay, 2 cars oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 4 cars hay, 2 cars oats.

Dealers charge an advance of 5 cents a bushel and $3 a ton on hay and millfeed from warehouses in less than carload lots.

NEWS OF COLD WEATHER HELPS BULLS IN WHEAT

Market Further Strengthened by Late Reports of Extensive Rains in Kansas.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 30.—More favorable harvesting weather in the southwest took the edge off the wheat market at the start. Notwithstanding an improved tone in foreign grain markets, sentiment in the pit here was quite bearish. In the absence of outside speculation traders sold freely when it looked as if a bad break would follow. The principal feature of trading was the liquidation of July holdings and the changing from July to distant deliveries. There was also considerable selling of September on the improved weather conditions in the southwest. Before the decline was checked September went off to 80¾c. During the latter part of the session a decided reaction developed. Bullish advices regarding the spring wheat crop were received from the northwest, the reports stating that abnormally cool weather was greatly retarding the growth of the plant. These rumors were accompanied by enough buying orders to occasion a good rally, especially in the more distant deliveries. The market was further strengthened within the last few minutes of trading by reports of rain in Kansas. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 73,400 bushels. Primary receipts were 294,400 bushels, compared with 302,500 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 219 cars, against 153 cars last week and 252 cars a year ago.

Liquidation of July holdings was the feature of trading in the corn pit. There was selling by commission houses on a fair scale and a lot of changing from July to the September option. Prospects of heavy deliveries tomorrow were partly responsible for the profit-taking, and the easier tone of the early wheat market increased the selling pressure. An easier tone was manifested throughout the entire day. Local receipts were 250 cars, with 18 of contract grade.

The oats market felt the effects of the easier tone of corn, prices of all deliveries showing slight losses. Trading was almost exclusively of a scalping nature. Some bad crop news caused shorts to cover and the demand was supplied by local longs. Receipts light and the cash demand fair. Local receipts were 128 cars.

In spite of considerable liquidation the provision market ruled firm and finished the day with fair advances for all products. The chief feature was buying of lard and ribs by commission houses supposed to be for the account of local packers. Higher prices at the yards were a supporting influence.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 10 cars; corn, 300 cars; oats, 107 cars; hogs, 18,000 head.

Creighton Will Not Return to Altoona for Three Months

General Manager Atterbury, accompanied by Michael Trump, acting general superintendent, and R. M. Patterson, superintendent of freight transportation of the Pennsylvania railroad, spent several hours here yesterday in conference with Pennsylvania lines west officials regarding the coal and coke movements. The question of a reduction of forces was also discussed with the superintendents centering in Pittsburgh, although none of the officials would speak for publication.

The general manager arrived from Philadelphia at 9:21 a. m. in private car No. 30, which with car No. 160 was attached to train No. 19. After a short conference with S. C. Long, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, the Pennsy officials met General Manager G. L. Peck and Freight Traffic Manager D. T. McCabe of the lines west. Mr. Trump arrived at East Liberty Wednesday night and came in on No. 19 yesterday morning. After the conferences at the Union station a special train was made up which carried the Philadelphia officials east at 1:12 p. m.

One of the objects of the present trip of the general manager was to look over the general superintendent's territory in view of the fact that G. W. Creighton, who was furloughed about six months ago, will not return to his duties at Altoona tomorrow as was expected. Instead his furlough has been extended until late fall and Michael Trump, it is said, will continue in the capacity of acting superintendent. It is understood that Mr. Creighton's health is still bad and that he will travel for several months. He only recently returned from California, where he spent the winter with his family.

It is again rumored that in the absence of Mr. Creighton there will be a general shaking up of the transportation officials, but the rumor, as usual, cannot be verified.

Hyndman Is Promoted.

F. T. Hyndman, master mechanic of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railroad at Dubois, tomorrow becomes general superintendent of motive power of the entire system, with headquarters at the same place. He succeeds C. E. Turner, who has resigned. Mr. Hyndman began his railroad service with the old Pittsburgh & Western over 20 years ago at this place. He entered the mechanical department and about two years afterward was made master mechanic. Upon the consolidation of the Pittsburgh & Western with the Baltimore & Ohio, Mr. Hyndman went with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh. He is vice president of the Railway club of Pittsburgh. His successor has not been named.

Soft Coal Tonnage Picks Up.

The shipments of soft coal on the Pennsylvania railroad east of Erie and Pittsburgh for the year ending June 25 amounted to 12,864,786 tons, as compared with 12,312,461 tons for the same period of the previous year. For the week ending with June 25 there was a slight increase in the shipments. The tonnage was: Soft coal, 481,458 tons; coke, 145,308 tons, and hard coal, 101,810 tons. For the year the coke tonnage was 4,744,245 tons, against 4,915,479 tons for 1903; the anthracite tonnage was 2,139,479 tons, against 2,240,135 tons for 1903.

Railroad Notes.

N. P. Ramsey, superintendent of mails of the Wabash, spent yesterday in the city.

On Sunday the Cleveland & Pittsburgh will run one of its flyers to Cleveland in three hours. Effective that day, the flyer leaving here at 5 o'clock in the afternoon will reach Cleveland at 8:04 instead of 8:30 p. m.

Another Good Producer Is found in Cabell County

After a lapse of several months the Big Lime evelopment, near Milton, Cabell county, W. . has come to the front with another good oducer. The new strike is the Cabell Oil and s Company's No. 3 on the E. W. Beckett m, 400 feet north of No. 2 on the same m. The well produced 150 barrels the first ours after it was drilled into the pay. The well drilled on this farm was the initial in the development. It caused considerexcitement and was the incentive for ting a creditable amount of new work. The ts to extend the producing area of the have not met with much success. The now has 10 producing wells, confined to a ested area and the combined production unts to 455 barrels a day. The probabilior extending the producing limits of the lopment into a field of any considerable ortions is not promising. Nearly every ection from the producing wells tests have en drilled and the result has been dusters.

In the Bonds Creek district, in Ritchie ounty, Hall, Gold, Zahniser & Co. have a very e producer at their No. 3 on the William McGregor farm. When first drilled into the Keener pay the well did not show for better than 50 barrels a day, but was drilled a little deeper and increased, producing 220 barrels the first 24 hours. In the same district No. 3 on the Douglass reserve and No. 17 on the Sarah A. DeLong farm are producing 150 and 115 barrels a day, respectively. In the Wick district, in Tyler county, the Three Joes Oil Company has drilled its test on the B. L. Buffman farm and has a show for a 25 or 30-barrel producer in the Big Injun. This location is in advance of developments to the northeast and adds something to the producing area of the pool.

In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its second test on the B. F. Barnhart farm into the Gordon pay and the well produced 40 barrels the first 16 hours. It is still drilling and has a show for an increase in production. The same company's No. 2 on the E. Whitlatch farm, in the same district, is holding up at 150 barrels a day. On the east side of the Folsom district, in Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has shot its test on the Agnes Loofman farm and has a 20-barrel pumper in the Gordon. In the same district, the same company has drilled its test on the A. W. Cofield farm deeper into the fourth sand and got an increase in the gas pressure. This is now the strongest gasser in the Folsom district.

South of Smithfield, Wetzel county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 44 on the Blackshere-Wells farm 15 feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 500 feet with fluid. It will make a small pumper. In the Pine Grove extension the same company has drilled its No. 6 on the A. T. Morris farm 17 feet into the stray sand and the hole has filled up 600 feet with fluid. It is still drilling. In the Mannington district, Marion county, South Penn company has been touching up e of its late completions with the high plosive fluid. The following have been shot th the appended results for the first 24 hours: Emma Hays, No. 4, 15 barrels; W. W. rish, No. 3, 12 barrels; E. W. Hamilton, 12 barrels, and Irene Tetrick, No. 1, six rels. In the same district the South Penn mpany has drilled in its No. 6 on the Michael Kennedy farm and the hole has filled up 000 feet with fluid. The same company has mpleted its No. 15 on the John Blackshere rm and has a 25-barrel producer in the Gordon. The same company has completed its 6 on the F. A. Rymer farm and has a barrel producer.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, Roberts Brothers have completed their No. on the Rathbone oil tract and have a e-barrel pumper in the second Cow Run sand a depth of 520 feet. The same company has drilled its No. 45 on the same tract into the Big Injun and at a depth of 1,065 feet has developed a fair gas pressure.

On Kinchlo creek, Lewis county, the South nn company has completed and shot its second test on the W. L. Hall farm and has a barrel pumper in the fifth sand. In the averly district, Wood county, Gunsburg & nderson have completed their No. 18 on the Hunter farm and have a duster in the w Run sand.

In the new development, near Leetonia, Columbiana county, O., the Devonian Oil Company has completed and shot its second test the E. L. and C. G. McCoy farm in the Big Injun and since putting it to pumping the ll has been producing 20 barrels a day. In Harrison county, two miles north of the Adams ol, the Sun Oil Company has completed its st on the Anson Fife farm and has a duster the Big Injun. Southeast of Jerusalem, Monroe county, Mooney & Co. have drilled in their No. 5 on the J. R. Scott farm and have a 20-barrel producer in the Keener.

Near Coshocton, in Bloomfield township, Coshocton county, the Coshocton Oil and Gas Company, composed of Pittsburghers, has completed a test on the Graham farm that is reported to be good for 10 barrels a day. In the same locality the same parties have drilled in three test wells and all are said to have developed some oil in the Berea formation. This development is more than 30 miles from any other production in Southeastern Ohio.

On the Liberty Land Company's property at Economy, Beaver county, Pa., the Economy Oil Company has drilled in a test well that is showing for 15 barrels a day in the 100-foot sand. This is this company's first venture since the sale of the Economy society's property to the Liberty Land Company.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The terms on which Chinese laborers are making contracts to work in the mines of South Africa are: $6 25 per month of 10 hours per day with no work on Sundays and four Chinese holidays per year. Each man will have furnished a daily ration of 2¼ pounds of grain or rice, six ounces of fresh or preserved meat or fish, half ounce of tea ground, nutoil and salt. Clothing and tobacco furnished at cost. Men permanently injured will be paid $12 and in case of death $50 to family.

The Yaqui Copper Company, of which concern Henry Ide Willey is chief engineer, is about to construct a smelter on its property at Campo Santo Nino, state of Sonora, Mexico. The initial capacity of the plant will be 500 tons daily, while ultimately the smelter is expected to handle 5,000 tons of ore per day. The Allis-Chalmers Company, 71 Broadway, has drawn up plans for the plant.

A dispatch from Telluride, Col., says: The richest of any strike so far this season has been made by J. R. McCaskey and J. M. Belisle on the Hattie lode, located near the head of Chapman gulch, on the range dividing the Ophir district from the Bear Creek region. For the past four weeks ore running from 50 cents to $1 00 per pound has been steadily encountered. In addition to the rich ore, which, of course, is shipped crude to the refineries, mineral of a lower grade is regularly extracted and packed to the Suffolk 40-stamp mill at the town of Ophir for treatment by the amalgamation and concentration process. The owners are taking out from $15,000 to $20,000 per month and the property is yet but little more than a prospect. The vein has been opened at four or five different places, at intervals of from 150 to 200 feet, and at every point of exposure shows the same phenomenally rich character of ore. The force employed will be steadily increased as development progresses.

General Manager George Crawford, whose operations in the San Juan country have been very extensive, is preparing to start a tunnel below the Yankee Girl, cutting it and the Guston with others 800 feet deeper than the present working tunnel of the Genessee-Vanderbilt, with which tunnel it will be connected.

The Golden Chord, a well-known rich property in Clinton gulch, has started up with a few men. Considerably over $100,000 has been spent upon this property, which shows a number of rich veins. The location of the group is on the rugged slopes of Fletcher mountain, near Kokomo, Col.

The construction work of the new 150-ton cyanide mill, to be erected on the Anaconda company's property by King & Craig, started yesterday. The mill will be used to treat all the old dump, containing approximately 112,000 tons of rock. A total of 800 samples was taken from these dumps, and assays show that all the rock will contain $9 30 in gold per ton, which, when it is considered that the rock is thoroughly oxidized and will yield its gold contents readily to the cyanide process at a low working cost, will therefore return a good profit to the operators. Besides working over the old dump they intend operating on the wash, which is all the way from two to eight feet in thickness and all running good pay. As the Anaconda company's estate takes in the greater part of the southern slope of Gold Hill, Cripple Creek, covering many acres, it is seen that there alone the operators will be kept busy for years to come. The main Anaconda vein will be worked for a distance of 1,200 feet and a considerable tonnage of ore will be secured from that source. The vein outcrops on the surface and for a great distance the stopes were carried right to the grass roots, leaving a yawning chasm that in places is 400 feet in depth.

The Durango Girl Mining Company, La Plata, has let a contract for 100 feet of drifting and is making preparations to erect a hoisting plant in the near future.

Congressman Hogg and J. F. Seed are interested in a promising property northwest of Tin Cup on which a lead is exposed for half a mile on the surface. The owners expect to do a large amount of development on the property this season.

The West Gold Hill property, situated about three miles south of Tin Cup, is employing about 20 men in the erection of a 50-ton cyanide mill, which is rapidly nearing completion. The company has its own saw mill on the ground, which is turning out lumber for the buildings. The developments are carried on by a tunnel which is in about 500 feet and some good ore has been encountered. J. Cavanah of Denver is president of the company.

COKE TRADE DECLINES TO LOWEST POINT KNOWN

Many Ovens Blow Out and the Volume of Business May Become Smaller.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., June 30.—With alarming steadfastness the coke trade continues on the decline until upon this, the last day of June, it is at the lowest ebb on record, barring strike times, with a possibility of its even going lower. Last week witnessed a wholesale blowing out of ovens that was entirely unexpected, 2,500 ovens being placed in the idle list, and the list increased to nearly 60 per cent of the region. More ovens will assuredly go out this week, and only those plants where coke can be produced cheapest operated. Operators, however, all over the region are hopeful that the second week in July will bring about some results in the business for the better, but upon what basis they make their claims other than optimism is at present unfathomable. The independent operators are completely out of the market, and their plants are closed. A Philadelphia commission firm endeavoring to close contracts for the last half of the year says: "Some substandard cokes have been offered at $1 15 at the oven," and upon this basis is endeavoring to make contracts. The Masontown field, which has all along made a good showing, last week dropped from its position and 1,000 ovens were blown out. This field is one of the cheapest producing fields in the section, and its backward trend in the trade is due to the blowing out of western furnaces.

The summary of the region shows 23,053 ovens in the region, with 13,703 ovens in blast and 9,350 idle. Of the 76 plants in the region, 28 plants 5,136 ovens made six days, 46 plants 8,437 ovens five days, one plant 50 ovens 40 days and the Semet Solvay plant seven days, an average of 5.40 days as compared to 5.72 days the previous week. Production in tons amounted to 169,375, as compared to 187,125 tons the week previous, a decrease of 26,750 tons. Shipments were 7,305 cars, as compared to 7,390 cars, a decrease of 85 cars. Shipments were distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river points, 2,450 cars, a decrease of 10 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 3,715 cars, the same as last week; to points west of Everson, 1,140 cars, a decrease of 75 cars. Shipments in tons were 168,050, compared to 169,940 tons the previous week, a decrease of 1,890 tons. Shipments from the Masontown field amounted to 1,195 cars, a decrease of 268 cars.

FALLING OFF IN REALTY SALES

Pittsburgh and Allegheny Show Losses in First Half of 1904.

BETTER SHOWING IN BUILDING

The records of real estate and building in Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the first six months of 1904, which ended yesterday, make a most commendable showing when compared with the totals in other lines of business for the same period. Conditions financial and political, which have seriously affected business in general have depleted the total of realty and building operations. But contrary to other commodities, real estate has not depreciated in value because of these adverse conditions, but today has by far the steadiest market value of any commodity in Greater Pittsburgh. In the face of heavy losses in the stock market, slow production at the mills and a tight money market there has been a gradual and healthy advance in the selling prices of real estate over both cities and the profits realized by many investors in the first half of this year have added no small amount to their fortunes. No other period of similar length in Pittsburgh's history has demonstrated more conclusively the fact that real estate well located is the best and safest investment for any man who uses fair judgment in his purchases.

Makes Favorable Showing.

Compared with the corresponding periods in the three years previous the first half of 1904 shows a considerable falling off in real estate business. This is the more apparent because of unusual conditions which prevailed. One year ago the realty market in Pittsburgh was just beginning to wane after having enjoyed the most pronounced boom that the city ever experienced. Hence the total for that period, nearly $15,000,000 more than for the six months just passed, may be said to represent abnormal buying. Gradually the market returned to a normal state and later became "slow" on account of unfavorable financial conditions. Compared with any other period than the one mentioned this year's record makes a very favorable showing and speaks well for the enduring faith of Pittsburgh investors in the growth in values of her properties.

Several elements combined to cause a falling off in this year's business. First of these may be mentioned the death of several persistent and large investors and the withdrawal of a number of other well-known realty buyers from the market. Naturally the absence of these men who had helped to create values and had time and again turned the tide of Pittsburgh's growth, was severely felt. A second class of buyers has been noticeably absent since January 1, the manufacturing concerns and railroads which for three years have contributed millions to the totals of real estate sales in Pittsburgh. The former may be said to have gotten all the property they cared for at present time. The latter, forced to curtail their expenses by the general slump in business, have made few large purchases for new plants. Still another class of investors has been lacking in the ranks of realty buyers during the past six months, the lot plan promoters who for two years have been large purchasers of acreage and frontage early in the season. Most of these men or companies had enough property left over from last year to operate this year and the fact that lot plans have not sold with the same feverish haste as formerly deterred other capitalists from buying properties.

They Compare Well.

The following tables showing a comparison for the first six months of the last four years was made up from records in the registrar's offices in Pittsburgh and Allegheny:

Sales made in Pittsburgh:

1901—3,246 transfers	$26,182,100
1902—3,543 transfers	26,900,900
1903—4,185 transfers	39,638,600
1904—3,052 transfers	24,903,400

This table shows a loss of $14,700,000 from the 1903 total, or 37 per cent. In 1903 the same period showed a gain of 46 per cent over the two previous years, which were record-breakers in local real estate transactions. Both the number and amount of the transactions, however, compare well with the totals of 1901 and 1902, and hence should be considered fully up to normal business.

Sales Made in Allegheny.

1901—654 transfers	$2,710,131
1902—821 transfers	3,950,138
1903—821 transfers	4,613,862
1904—736 transfers	3,325,118

Allegheny's falling off from last year is $1,288,000, or 28 per cent, a better showing comparatively than that of Pittsburgh. Last year her gain over 1902 was 16 per cent. The average of the sales this year has been slightly smaller on the North Side owing to the fact that no big deals have been made by the railroads. The North Side record is interesting, as it shows good gains in six of the 15 wards, namely, the First, Second, Seventh, Tenth, Thirteenth and Fifteenth. The Fourth ward has the largest loss to account for and the Ninth ward is $150,000 behind the total of last year. Following are the totals of real estate sales in the Allegheny wards for the first half of 1903 and 1904:

Sales in Allegheny.

First	$281,619	$488,552
Second	522,685	530,615
Third	338,856	204,041
Fourth	1,174,098	369,974
Fifth	487,117	202,889
Sixth	244,642	189,200
Seventh	70,223	70,462
Eighth	89,319	72,050
Ninth	178,879	25,911
Tenth	283,105	411,892
Eleventh	184,231	202,529
Twelfth	85,732	45,861
Thirteenth	64,487	157,873
Fourteenth	62,219	59,714
Fifteenth	166,586	213,665

A glance at the building totals in Pittsburgh, obtained from Superintendent A. C. Dies, shows that few large buildings have been started this year. The skyscraper era ended last year. Fewer warehouse projects, too, have been started this year and the building of large apartment houses has been more restricted. House building has kept up to the average and is likely to increase as fall approaches. While the actual amount of building done in Pittsburgh proper has been smaller the work that has come to Pittsburgh architects from outside towns has kept the building situation from being as dull comparatively as the real estate market. The summary of building operations in Pittsburgh for the first six months of the past four years follows:

1901—2,584 permits	$11,492,799
1902—2,120 permits	6,847,399
1903—2,023 permits	8,779,098
1904—1,697 permits	5,557,335

Below is given the totals of the first six months of this year:

January—79 permits	$ 199,184
February—188 permits	434,225
March—330 permits	468,238
April—521 permits	1,573,715
May—444 permits	1,981,973
June (estimated) 135 permits	900,000

The total loss for the six months is about $3,200,000. May was the only month that made a gain over 1903, her total being fully twice that of May, 1903. January, March and April had heavy losses due in part to the bad weather that held back all building operations.

Have Been Fewer Flats.

In Allegheny a very small falling off is to be noted from last year. During that period the North Side made a gain of 15 per cent up to July 1, which represents her loss this year. The loss may be attributed chiefly to the fact that no manufactories and fewer flats have been built, while house building has been on the increase. The following figures, obtained through the courtesy of Building Inspector Ellsworth Murphy, show the comparative totals:

1901—341 permits	$ 636,725
1902—353 permits	1,037,150
1903—418 permits	1,211,875
1904—447 permits	1,051,446

Certain conditions have been very noticeable in the real estate market this year and have affected building to a great extent. There have been no boom localities, unless the rather marked and continued activity beyond the hump may be termed a boom. Last year a half dozen prominent localities were repeatedly the seats of abnormal buying, which resulted to the loss of the investors in that they are obliged to hold their properties until times are better. But the booms of last year resulted in a large amount of new building and the remodeling of old ones. Added to this property owners have assumed a stubborn attitude this season that has not only hindered sales, but has delayed building operations that must be undertaken before the properties pay an adequate revenue on the prices asked.

THREE MEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION OF BOILER

Two Injured on Pennsylvania Near Johnstown, Pa.—Three Hurt in Ohio.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., June 30.—A locomotive boiler exploded on the Pennsylvania railroad while going up the mountain at 11 o'clock this morning, 50 yards from the Ehrenfeld station, killing three men and injuring two others, one of them fatally:

The three men killed were in the cab of the locomotive, while the injured were in the caboose of the freight train just ahead.

Inside Inn Accommodations

You Can Live at This Hotel and See the World's Fair as Many Days as You Like Without Leaving the Grounds.

RATES EXTREMELY MODEST.

One of the unique privileges to be enjoyed by thousands of World's Fair guests is that of living at a hotel inside the grounds during their stay at the Exposition. No other exposition has afforded such a privilege. This hotel, aptly named "The Inside Inn," has a capacity of 6,000 guests. Its enormous size attracts great attention. It is located near the southeastern corner of the grounds, close to an intramural railway station, and in easy walking distance of the "main picture" of the Fair.

The Inside Inn is to be conducted under the supervision of the World's Fair officials, who fix the prices for accommodations—rooms, meals, etc. Thus it may be seen that there can be no extortion whatever. Every guest registering at the hotel will know exactly what price he must pay per day for his room or rooms and for his meals. The guest pays his way into the World's Fair grounds—fifty cents. If he stops at the Inside Inn the hotel rates include the daily price of admission.

There is great demand for rooms at the Inside Inn, the bookings having been in progress for several months. There are 2,257 rooms; they range in price from $1.50 to $2.50 per day, rooms with bath costing from $3.50 to $5.50. All these rates include the price of admission to the Fair after the first admission fee of fifty cents is paid at the gate. Single meals at the inn will cost as follows: Breakfast, 50 cents; luncheon, 50 cents, evening dinner, 75 cents. There is also a service a la carte at very reasonable rates. Guests who desire to obtain accommodation on the American plan may do so, at fixed rates, according to location of room.

Every convenience usually found at a first-class hotel is to be provided at the Inside Inn, and those who stay there during their visit, will have the advantage of barber shop, bath, lounging rooms, parlors, cool verandas and other privileges.
